SPECIAL PROVISIONS RESPECTING REFINED SUGAR WHICH MAY BE ALLOWED TO BE IMPORTED INTO ALGERIA OF TEMPORARY ADMISSIONS OF RAW SUGAR.

This concerns exclusively sugar refined in free establishments, i.e., proceeding from temporarily admitted raw sugar, or from raw sugar subject to the payment of the normal consumption duty, which two categories of sugar may be commingled in the refineries.

The obligation under bond to employ the sugar for brewing purposes, entitles such sugar to certificate No. 7, imputable to the discharge of accounts of temporary admissions of raw sugar. This certificate is valid for two months from the date of consignment to the brewery; it may be transferred by endorsement and may be deducted from temporary admissions up to the quantity of refined sugar mentioned therein.

Refined sugar admitted, on exportation, to be deducted from temporary admissions for its real weight, is to be reckoned at that weight when consigned to a brewery. Other refined sugar, which is only allowed to be deducted from temporary admissions for the quantity of refined sugar it represents, is, in like case, reckoned on said quantity only, and certificate No. 7 must be drawn up accordingly.

CANDY SUGAR.
Candy sugar may be declared as intended for brewing purposes on the same footing as refined sugar proper. It is liable to duty according to the within Tariff if entering from abroad, and in the case of exempted sugar, the certificates are issued according to the rules adopted for candy sugar destined for export. (See Form of October 1st, 1904, and Circular No. 5162.)

REFINING TAX ON SUGAR.

It would appear from Circulars issued by the French Customs authorities since September 1st, 1903, that the "refining tax" is now levied at the following rate: Per 100 kilograms.

Refined sugar and other sugar treated as refined.....	Fr. c.
Sugar candy.....	2 14
Melasses, other than for distillation.....	1 00
50% or less.....	2 00
More than 50%.....	2 00
Syrups, bouillons, and candied fruits.....	2 00
Preserves (confitures) and sweet biscuits.....	0 80
Sweetened condensed milk, according to proportion of sugar.....	1 00
Chocolate, containing 55% or less of sugar.....	1 31

The system of dédoune de distance established under the Law of 1897 is continued, but the amounts of the duties to be calculated on the basis of the actual cost of transport, always provided, however, that the rates laid down in Articles 2 and 3 of that Law are not exceeded. The special reductions of duty for sugar employed in sweetening wines, cider, and perry, are abrogated.

SEPARATION TAX ON SUGAR.

	Per 100 kilograms. (Actual weight.)
Refined sugar.....	Fr. c.
Sugar candy.....	0 08

COLONIAL PRODUCE.

The Law of December 20, 1916, imposes internal consumption duties on the undermentioned products as follows: Per 100 kilograms.

Coffee, prepared, coffee root, and other coffee substitutes.....	Fr. c.
Roasted or ground.....	30 00
Cocoa in the bean, and husks.....	40 00
Cocoa, crushed, and cocoa butter.....	25 00
Chocolate:
Containing more than 55% of cocoa.....	25 00
Containing 55% of cocoa or less.....	15 00
Milk chocolate containing, at most, 10% of cocoa and 25% of sugar.....	2 50
Pepper, pimento, and imitation products containing pepper or pimento.....	104 00
Aniseeds and carraways, cinnamon, cloves, cassia ligna, and nutmegs, in the shell.....	39 00
Vanilla, shell, and mace.....	60 00
Vanilla.....	80 00
Tea, including "flowers" and "buds".....	30 00

These consumption duties are payable (in addition to the Customs duties on the importation of the products into France, either from French Colonies or from foreign countries. Extracts and essences of coffee are to pay the internal tax under the same conditions as the Customs duty is leviable. The denomination "prepared coffee root" does not cover root simply dried. The tax on chicory and on coffee of the same weight, foreign origin is to be assessed on the actual or "legal" net weight.
The new consumption duties are applicable in Corsica, but not in Algeria.

APPENDED SCHEDULE OF CONSUMPTION DUTIES.

Goods, and merchandise of any origin and nationality may, therefore, be imported into the French Somali Coast free of all Customs duty.

Consumption duties, as per appended Tariff, have been instituted by various Decrees of the Governor, sanctioned by the French Minister of Colonies.

STATISTICAL TAX.

Regulations respecting the collection of a statistical tax approved by Decree of July 6, 1901.

(Journal Official of July 11, 1901.)

ART. 1.—A statistical tax shall be collected in the St. Pierre and Miquelon Islands upon merchandise of every description and origin imported otherwise than in the coasting trade from one port of the Colony to another.

This tax is fixed as follows:

15 centimes per package upon goods in casks, cases, bags or other packages;

15 centimes per 1,000 kilograms upon goods in bulk;

15 centimes per head on the following live or dead animals: horses, mules, asses, all bovine, sheep, goats and swine.

Merchandise in bulk, dutiable otherwise than on weight, shall be subject to the statistical tax at the rate of 15 centimes per 1,000 kilograms, not to be divisible—payable in full upon any quantity below 1,000 kilograms and for any fraction of weight in excess of 1,000 kilograms. Payment of the tax will be insisted upon separately for each article whenever a package contains different objects but all put up together in one same wrapper.

In the case of a package of goods of the same description and weighing gross 6 kilograms each at the maximum, the tax of 15 centimes shall be applied in respect of each group of five packages. Every fraction of five packages shall be reckoned as one group and liable to the tax in full. Bales and bundles unwrapped and simply banded by any kind of bands shall be held and taxed as goods in bulk.

ART. 2.—The following are exempt from the statistical tax:

Transmissions of Treasury funds;

Luggage accompanying passengers;

Fresh fish and lobsters;

Objects of every description (except merchandise proper) landed by metropolitan fishing vessels and local schooners;

Surplus ships' provisions landed for the proper rations of crews;

ART. 3.—The tax shall be collected on the Customs liquidation statements.

The same shall be exacted according to the particulars appearing in the declarations of entry reached by bills of lading or upon quantities ascertained on examination, the Customs being at liberty to admit the declarations as correct or not.

The liquidation or collection of the statistical tax, and matters arising thereon come under the application of the General Customs Laws.

The Bundesrath will determine what proportion of gross weight may be deducted by way of tare in assessing the net weight.

On imported goods, receptacles commonly employed in trade are to be admitted free of duty.

In the case of goods dutiable on gross weight but imported without packing or in receptacles not commonly employed in trade, and in the case of liquids imported in immediate receptacles not commonly employed in the trade, the Bundesrath may order that the weight of the receptacles commonly used in the trade be added to the net weight of such goods or to the actual weight of said liquids.

Specified custom-houses for clearance of certain goods.

§ 4.—The Bundesrath is authorized to prescribe that the clearance of certain goods, custom examination of which offers special difficulties, be only effected in certain specified custom-houses unless the interested parties are willing to pay the highest duties stipulated in the tariff as applicable to such goods or undertake to pay the expenses connected with the conveyance of the goods or samples thereof to the proper custom-houses.

Goods admitted free of duty.

§ 5.—The following goods are admitted free of duty:

- (a) Articles sent by post from abroad, when the gross weight of such articles does not exceed 250 grams;
- (b) All articles paying duty according to weight, when such weight is under 100 kilograms.

The Bundesrath will determine to what extent fractions of a kilogram may, in other cases, be disregarded at the time of fixing the weight of the goods.

Duties amounting to less than five pennings will not be levied, and higher duties only in so far as they are divisible by 5, all surplus pennings being eliminated.

The Bundesrath may, in case of misuse of the provisions hereof, enact limitations affecting any specified goods or frontier limits.

The exemption may be restricted by the Bundesrath in case of finely-cut tobacco and cigarettes, and also tubes and small sheets of cigarette paper.

§ 6.—The following articles remain free of duty:

1. Agricultural and animal products coming from farms beyond the frontier which are managed from houses and farms within the frontier; also forestry produce when the forest land beyond the frontier has formed part of property within the frontier since at least July 15, 1879.
2. Fish, seals, whales, and other sea animals caught by German fishermen, and by crews of German vessels, as well as products derived from such fish and animals.
3. Shellfish caught in foreign territorial waters are excluded from the exemption.

The Bundesrath will enact the necessary prescriptions to secure supervision.

3. Clothing and body linen which have been used and which are not imported for sale or for industrial purposes.

4. Goods belonging to immigrants and intended for their own use; used machines for industrial or agricultural purposes, however, be only admitted exceptionally and subject to a special permit.

Under a special permit, new articles making up trousseaus and engagement or wedding presents intended for foreigners or for natives who have more than two years resided abroad, and who, upon their marriage with a native of Germany, remove their residence to Germany. From this exemption are to be excluded foodstuffs and consumable goods, unmanufactured yarns and spun wares, as well as all other products requiring to be worked up; also raw materials of all kinds, and animals. The Chancellor of the Empire may, with the assent of the Bundesrath, order that the benefit of sub-sections 1 and 2 be wholly or partly refused to subjects or citizens of a state which does not grant reciprocal treatment.

5. Used effects proved to have been inherited, subject to a special permit.

6. Serviceable articles of all kinds, whether new or not, imported by travellers, carriers, shipmasters and crews for their own personal use or for the exercise of their profession during the journey, as well as other articles of the kind which precede or follow such persons; also live animals which actors on a trip employ either for the exercise of their profession or for exhibition purposes.

This exemption further extends to trunks, bags, and other used travelling requisites re-entering from a foreign country, if they serve for the transport of passengers effects abroad.

7. Articles of consumption imported by travellers, including carriers, for their own personal use on the journey, as well as stores for masters of ships and their crews, but in the latter case only in a quantity not exceeding two days' requirements.

The exemption may be restricted by the Bundesrath in case of finely-cut tobacco and cigarettes, and also tubes and small sheets of cigarette paper.

8. Vehicles of all kinds, including their accessories and furnishings exclusively utilized for bringing in persons and goods, and imported solely for the purpose of reimported from abroad after having been used for a like transport abroad; also vehicles introduced for the purpose of conveying persons or goods abroad.

Horses and other animals including their harness and blankets, used for riding, draft, or carrying purposes and which for such purpose only cross the frontier, or come back from abroad after having been used as aforesaid on going out; horses and other animals used for conducting abroad persons, vehicles, or goods.

Vehicles of all kinds as well as horses or other animals belonging to travellers even if at the time of importation they should not be employed as means of transport, subject to proof being furnished that they were previously the property of such persons and are subsequently required for their use.

Vehicles or animals which in the foregoing cases permanently remain in the country become liable to duty.

P fodder required for feeding on the journey, and imported with the animals referred to in sub-sections 2 and 3, in a quantity corresponding to the number of animals and probable length of the journey not to exceed two days.

The Bundesrath will enact special provisions in reference to the treatment of railway cars used for conveying passengers.

9. Wrappers, coverings, and other wrapping material, including rollers, wooden or cardboard rolls and similar articles imported for use in exporting goods or such wares coming back from abroad if proved to have been used for such purpose. In the former case, evidence of their exportation within a term deemed sufficient will be required, and, if needed, payment of the duties guaranteed; these formalities may, however, be dispensed with if the wrapping materials have been previously used and no doubt exists that same are actually intended to be used in the exportation of goods.

10. Sample coils and samples in cuttings or patterns which are only fit to be used as such, except samples of alimentary or consumable articles, but including specimens and samples of coffee, cocoa, sugar, raw tobacco, and dried fruits imported through the post and weighing up to 350 grams.

11. Works of art imported for art exhibitions or for public art institutions or collections; also such other articles as are intended for public institutions or collections for educational or exhibition purposes.

12. Materials necessary for building, repairing, or equipping sea or river vessels with the exception of cabin and galley requisites. This privilege does not apply to pleasure boats for river or lake navigation, which are subject to such special regulations as shall be issued by the Bundesrath.

13. Shields, flags, and other articles sent by foreign governments to their representatives in Germany for the purpose of the service, provided the respective countries grant reciprocal treatment.

14. Coffins containing corpses and urns containing ashes of cremated bodies, including wreaths and other like articles for ornamenting said coffins and urns or the means of transport thereof.

Customs treatment of waste and damaged goods.

§ 7.—Waste materials, unmanufactured in the land, and damaged and useable articles shall be admitted free of duty at the raw material of which they are made, provided they are unfit for any other use, or are rendered unseparable by appropriate means taken under order of the customs.

Useable waste materials and damaged goods imported as fertilizers are admitted free of duty, provided their application for any other purpose is not intended, or that they have been admitted for such other use, by proper means taken by order of the customs. Other damaged goods are free of duty if destroyed under supervision of the administration.

Duty free importation of railway materials.

§ 8.—If international conventional railways are organized, or are to be established, between the German Empire and a neighboring state, and if the working of such railway necessitates the establishment of a customs office at a connecting frontier station in common, the Bundesrath is authorized to grant the duty-free importation to:

1. Materials necessary for building and putting in working order the connecting station and line between the station and the customs frontier, provided the purchase of such material be incumbent upon the foreign authorities or companies.

2. All articles necessary for the operation of the foreign railway enterprise, including the maintenance of the railway station and the line running to the junction, and for the official use of the foreign customs officer.

3. Instruments and articles of functionaries and employees of said foreign railway administration, and of employees of other branches of the foreign administration who serve within the limits of the German customs union.

Certificates of origin to be required.

§ 9.—On the importation of goods subject to differential rates according to the country of origin, the importer shall declare, and it to be required shall prove, the country of origin of the goods. The Bundesrath will enact the rules to be complied with in regard to the terms and mode of declaration as well as to the furnishing of proof. If the importer faul to fulfil the above conditions the goods shall be treated on the less favored footing, without prejudice to any fines and other penalties he may have incurred.

Surtax on goods from States discriminating against German ships or products.

§ 10.—Dutiable goods proceeding from States that treat German ships or products less favorably than those of other nations may, in addition to the duties provided for in the tariff, be burdened with a surtax not exceeding twice the amount of the tariff rate imposed on such goods or, in the case of goods of a value equivalent to the total value of the goods themselves, goods free of duty according to the tariff may, under the same conditions, be taxed with a duty not exceeding 50 per cent. ad valorem.

In like manner, and save conventional stipulations to the contrary, foreign goods may be subjected to the same duties and customs formalities as are applicable to the same goods in the country of origin.

The measures provided for in this section shall be put in force by Imperial ordinance after being approved by the Bundesrath.

Any provisions enacted in the matter shall be communicated to the Reichstag forthwith, or, if not assembled, at its next session. The same shall be cancelled if not assented to by the Reichstag.

Drawback certificate for export of certain agricultural products.

§ 11.—Whoever exports from the free circulation of the customs territory rice, wheat, rye, barley, oats, buckwheat, pulse, colza, and rape seeds in a quantity of at least 50 kilograms shall, on demand, be entitled to a warrant (import certificate) authorizing him to import tax-free a quantity of the same products corresponding to the amount of duty represented by the said warrant with a proviso which in no case can exceed six months for the goods beyond the Bundesrath.

Clearance for exportation must be effected through the customs-houses designated by the chief fiscal authorities of the respective States.

Transit depots not placed under customs lock shall be authorized for the above-mentioned goods imported exclusively for sale beyond the customs territory. The goods deposited therein may be handled or re-packed without any restriction, provided that the quantities entered for export with native merchandise, and that the quantities of foreign goods in store, shall be deducted from the latter; the remainder to be considered as home goods (purely transit depots).

In regard to goods of the above description, partly to be consumed outside the customs territory and partly within the same, similar depots may be allowed if necessary, and the quantities cleared from such depots for consumption in the customs territory shall be entered as duty-paying being deducted from the warehouse stocks of native goods, provided the former do not exceed these stocks; the remainder to be treated as foreign goods (mixed transit depots). The Bundesrath will designate in what localities the establishment of such depots may be authorized.

Transit depots, not being subject to customs lock, may be authorized in respect of cereals not enumerated above, as well as dutiable oleaginous fruits, in case such products are intended exclusively for sale outside the customs territory. In these depots the merchandise may be handled and packed freely without any restriction or declaration, or it may be mixed with native goods. If the mixed goods are exported the preparation of foreign goods entering into the mixture shall be considered as the quantity in transit and free of duty. Similar transit depots may be authorized for goods of this kind intended for sale partly outside the customs territory, partly within the same.

Purely transit depots, not being jointly locked by the customs shall likewise be authorized, and mixed transit depots may be authorized with the joint lock of the customs, for unplanned and unloading building or other industrial purposes. The premises need not be enclosed. At certain periods permission will be granted to remove the wood and to return it to the transit depot in a finished state liable to a higher rate of duty as wood for building or other industrial purposes, or under the name of common or coarse woollen wares. The Bundesrath will designate in what localities the establishment of these mixed transit depots may be authorized.

Waste from the working of building and other wood in transit depots shall be entitled to a proportional reduction of the duties charged to account when the wood is exported outside the customs territory; the amount of this reduction shall be determined by the Bundesrath.

Millers or mill-owners shall on the exportation of their products receive import warrants for a corresponding quantity of cereals or pulse (see section 1 of this paragraph). The yield of these products which will have to be taken into account shall be determined by the Bundesrath.

A drawback shall be allowed to owners of all mills on the exportation of the oleo manufactured by them. This drawback shall consist in the remission of the duty payable on the quantity of foreign dutiable oleaginous fruits taken to the mills, and corresponding to the quantity of oleo manufactured by them. The yield of these products shall be determined by the Bundesrath. Similar drawback shall be granted to the mills under customs lock.

In the case of the export of foreign oleaginous fruits, may be imported into their natural condition with the permission of the customs authorities only. Any infringement of this provision will be liable to a penalty not in excess of 100 marks.

The provisions of sub-section 1 shall be extended to oil-mill owners in reference to the manufacture of common and pressed oils.

Goods entering a bond, warehouse or a private warehouse jointly owned by the customs shall be considered as exports within the meaning of sections 1 and 2.

6. The Bundesrath will enter the necessary measures relating specially to the form of import warrants, the nature of exported goods for which import warrants are applied for, as also the conditions to be complied with by warehouse owners.

It will further regulate the mode of payment of customs duties on goods other than those specified in section 1 of this paragraph, subject to specified conditions.

§ 12. For payment of duty.

Abolition of local taxes on certain articles of food.

§ 13.—From and after April 1, 1910, no further tax shall be levied on account of the communes or corporations on cereals, pulse, flour, or other milling products or upon bakers' goods, cattle, meat, meat products, and fat.

This provision shall not apply to the tax levied by communes on mills intended for brewing purposes.

The provisions to the contrary contained in Section 1 and § 7 of Section II of article 5 of the Customs Union Treaty (Zollvereinungsvertrag) dated July 8, 1867 (Bundes-Gesetzblatt, p. 101), and in the law of May 27, 1885 (Reichs-Gesetzblatt, p. 109), amending said treaty, are hereby repealed.

Penalties for violation of this law.

§ 14. Violations of this law or of duly published regulation for its execution shall be liable to a fine not exceeding 150 marks, unless a heavier penalty be incurred under § 11, section 4 (see above) or under § 138 and following of the Customs Union Law (Verordnungsblatt).

Application of certain customs receipts to pension fund.

§ 15.—In case the net proceeds of customs duties on the goods classified under Nos. 1, 2, 102, 103, 104, 107, 107a, and 160 of the tariff (§ 1), calculated per head of inhabitant of the German Empire, exceeds the net proceeds of the same goods calculated on an average for the years 1898 to 1903 per head of inhabitant, such excess shall be applied to the establishment of a pension fund for the aged and infirm.

This application of certain customs receipts to the pension fund shall be subject to a special law. Until such law is in operation the above surplusage is to be collected and invested at interest on account of the Empire.

In case the said law is not made operative prior to April 1, 1911, the interest on surplusage collected, as well as the accumulated surplusage shall from and after that date be distributed among the different institutions for insurance against invalidity and old age, in proportion to the insurance premiums paid by them during the previous year, for the purpose of insuring the widows and orphans of the insured.

The allowances to the several institutions shall be made according to regulations to be approved by the Imperial Insurance Office.

Date of commencement of this law.

§ 16.—The date upon which this law is to enter into force shall be fixed by Imperial ordinance, subject to the approbation of the Bundesrath.

From the same date the following shall be deemed repealed: The customs law and tariff of May 24, 1885 (Reichs-Gesetzblatt, p. 111); the laws dated April 18, 1886 (Reichs-Gesetzblatt, p. 123); December 21, 1887 (Reichs-Gesetzblatt, p. 533); April 14, 1894 (Reichs-Gesetzblatt, p. 239); March 6, 1895 (Reichs-Gesetzblatt, p. 325); May 18, 1895 (Reichs-Gesetzblatt, p. 239); June 14, 1896 (Reichs-Gesetzblatt, p. 239); March 14, 1896 (Reichs-Gesetzblatt, p. 117). The standing provisions respecting the allotment of part of the proceeds of customs duties and tobacco tax between the States composing the German Empire (§ 8 of the tariff law of May 24, 1885), remain in force until otherwise provided by a special law, save the alteration made by § 15 of the present law.

Decision of the Bundesrath, of January 28, 1910, relating to the payment of customs experts' fees.

(Nachrichtensblatt für die Zollverwaltung, No. 7, of 1910.)

1.—Save any provisions to the contrary contained in the Regulations enacted by the Bundesrath, experts' fees for chemical or technical examinations prescribed in a general way or ordered in special cases by the Customs, including expenses of transmission of the goods or samples, shall only be borne by the declarant if the import declaration presented should prove incomplete or inaccurate, and if the experts' examination could have been dispensed with by the production of a complete and proper declaration; in all other cases the experts' fees will be payable by the Treasury.

2.—When the experts' examination is demanded by the declarant, he will have to pay the expenses in case the result should not lead to the application of the classification claimed by him.

3.—The experts' fees will always be payable by the declarant in the following cases:—

(a) When he claims special favours to be left to the Customs' discretion.

(b) For experts' examination of denaturing substances.

(c) When the declarant fails to use the certificate admitted as proof of the quality of the goods.

4.—Unless otherwise expressly provided, the expenses connected with the experts' fee, to be refunded by the declarant, shall only include besides the cash disbursements, the fees due for services rendered by the chemists attached to the Customs department or by other technical officials.

RATES OF IMPORT DUTY.

(NOTE.—All rates are given per 100 kilos, net weight, except where otherwise indicated. See also § 3 of Customs Law.)

(NOTE RELATING TO TARES.—The figures appearing opposite the tares and supplementary tares represent the percentage to be deducted from the gross weight; those opposite the additional tares refer to the percentage to be added to the net weight of the goods.—In case the tares on a specified package vary according to weight, this must be taken to refer to the gross weight of the packages.—If a tariff item is sub-divided into several paragraphs, the tares appearing at the end of the item apply to the various paragraphs, unless otherwise specially provided as to certain paragraphs or goods.)

(NOTE.—For the Commercial Treaties with Canada and the Convention with Haiti, and the list of countries and the customs treatment applicable to goods imported therefrom into Germany, see end of Tariff.)

Note 1.—The following close-woven piece (Metresure) goods, wholly or partly of silk, are not treated as tissues for upholstery and tapestry under Nos 402-403: (a) All black tissues, even when they are furnished with a strip of another color along the selvage, the breadth of which, measured from the edge of the tissue to the inner edge of the strip, is not more than 3 centimetres; (b) all tissues not figured on the Jacquard loom and not woven like gobelins, not more than 125 centimetres broad, and not heavier than 120 grammes per square metre. (Treaty with Switzerland.) Note 2.—The term "Open-woven tissues" under No. 408 includes, in addition to crapes, only those tissues in which the space between the warp threads is as great as, or greater than, the thickness of the threads, and similarly the space between the weft threads is as great as, or greater than, the thickness of the threads. On the other hand, tissues in which such spaces do not occur, or occur only irregularly, in consequence of some defect in the weaving, are not excluded from treatment as close-woven tissues on this account. When thick and thin threads occur at regular intervals in the tissue, the thin threads serve to decide the width of the space. Finally, close-woven tissues in which open-woven strips or figures occur are to be treated as open-woven tissues. Tissues in which the spaces are completely closed by sizing are treated as close-woven. As close woven tissues are also to be treated, the smooth tiffeta tissues known as "marceline" and "arsenet," when they show at least 35 weft threads to the centimetre. (Treaty with Switzerland.) Note 3.—Handkerchiefs of "habutae" of the above-mentioned description shall not be considered as embroidered, if the embroidery does not, in any direction, cover more than a square of 6 centimetres side. In the case of tissues which are alternately open and close woven, duty will be calculated upon the average total number of threads. The average total number of threads will be obtained by counting the threads of both warp and weft between any two regularly recurring points in the design, and by reducing the number of threads so obtained to an average per square of 5 millimetres. In the case of tissues with double or twisted threads, the single threads should be counted. No account is taken of fractional parts in establishing the net result of the calculation. ( Treaties with Switzerland and Austria-Hungary. ) 3. 132 Fans (hand fans):			(a) Ordinary border (solyvres, lists &c.), composed of other textile materials, are disregarded in the tariff treatment of tissues of all kinds. ( Switzerland .)
Wholly or partly of ostrich feathers	600 00	—	The duties provided for tissues (in the piece or measured into lengths) are applicable even when single threads of another textile material are woven into measured piece goods to facilitate their cutting into lengths. Tissues of unbleached or bleached yarn, into which single colored threads of the same tissue, or a strip not more than 2 millimetres wide composed of such threads, has been woven solely for the purpose mentioned, are not treated as dyed tissues or tissues woven in colors. ( Switzerland .)
Wholly or partly of silk, lace, embroidery, or ornamental feathers other than ostrich feathers; all these, so far as they are not rendered liable to higher rates of duty by reason of combination	300 00	200 00	Tissues and trimmings are, so far as special provisions for mixed goods do not apply, dutiable as tissues or trimmings of the predominant material, even though threads of other textile materials occurring only singly (even though regularly repeated) are woven or plaited into them, and the threads of slight importance. In case of doubt as to such introduced threads of another textile material, the threads are regarded as of slight importance when they do not amount to more than 4 per cent. of the total number of threads in the tissue. ( Switzerland .)
Other, so far as they are not rendered liable to higher rates of duty by reason of their combination	200 00	—	The special regulations of No. 401 of the tariff are not affected by the above-mentioned provisions. ( Switzerland .)
Tare. —Cases, 20; casks, 20; baskets, 13; hales, 9.			Half-bleached (crem-colored) yarns and tissues and yarns and tissues treated with nitric acid (nitrified) are dutiable as bleached yarns or tissues. ( Austria-Hungary .)
133 Men's hats of spun wares without reference to degree of finish:			1. Yarns, half-bleached (crem-colored), mercerized, or treated with nitric acid, shall be dutiable as bleached yarns. ( Embodied together with Note 4 in treaty with Austria-Hungary .)
Of spun wares wholly or partly of silk	* 1 50	1 00	2. A surtax of 10 per cent. is levied on yarn of wool or hair or of vegetable textile materials, in combination with metal threads (wire or tinsel), except in the case of yarns round which metal threads are spun. In the case of yarns subject to various rates of duty according to count in addition to the surtax, the highest rate of duty leviable on the yarn according to the other qualities is to be taken as the duty.
Of other spun wares including those coated or impregnated with india-rubber; varnished hats for men, of any kind of spun wares, as well as of felt	0 50	—	3. Yarns in the form of sized or gummed warps, except those of silk, artificial silk, or loss silk, are subject to a surtax of 5 per cent. on the yarn used therein.
134 Women's hats of spun wares:			4. Spun wares, half-bleached (crem-colored), mercerized or treated with nitric acid, shall be dutiable as bleached spun wares. ( Embodied together with Note 1 in treaty with Austria-Hungary .)
Of spun wares consisting wholly or partly of silk, lace, embroidery, or spun wares with sewn-on work	* 1 00	—	5. (a) Figured (brown) tissues pay a surtax of 10 per cent. ( Embodied also in treaty with Austria-Hungary .)
			(b) Laine tissues (tissues made with several shirtings) are not treated as figured for the purposes of this Note. ( Austria-Hungary .)
			The surtax for figured tissues does not apply to linen or cotton dusters or similar articles for household use, which merely have words or designs representing their purpose printed on the edges or selvages. ( Austria-Hungary .)
			6. Coated and knitted spun wares are assimilated to netted tissues (dosiers) ( Switzerland ); so-called open-work embroidery, open-work lace ( not stick-lace, net-splend. ), so far as they cannot be obtained as splindier tissue, are treated as lace.
			7. Unless otherwise provided in the tariff, tissues in combination with metal threads (wire or tinsel) pay a surtax of 10 per cent.
			(c) The surtax provided for in Note 7 above on tissues in combination with metal threads (wire or tinsel), shall not exceed 3 per cent. As regards metallic threads employed in embroidery, the special dispositions relating thereto remain in force. ( Switzerland .)
			8. Spun wares with sewn-on work (appliqued tissues) are treated for tariff purposes as sewn articles, according to the quality of the tissue forming the foundation. Appliqued felts and felt manufactures are treated in the same way.

(c) Applique-embroideries on a foundation material other than silk or half-silk, in which the foundation material is noted with muslin or tulle by the embroidery upon them, of patterns in such a manner that the patterns become visible on the cutting away of the underlying or superimposed material, are not treated as "appliqued tissues" in the sense of Note 8, but are dutiable at the rate of 300 marks per 100 kilos. (Austria-Hungary.)

9. Weavers' heads of yarn, united by plaiting, knotting, or netting to a reel, are dutiable as simple hems.

(d) Except when otherwise provided in the tariff, tissues without needlework, measured into lengths or cut out, are treated as piece goods. (Switzerland.)

10. Spun wares and felts, provided only with simple hems or with occasional seams, are not dutiable as sewn goods, but are subject to a surtax of 15 per cent. in addition to the duty on spun wares.

Sewn or sewn goods of tissues are subject to the same surtax.

(e) Embroideries, lace tissues and lace, however, provided only with simple hems, or with occasional seams, are neither dutiable as sewn goods nor subject to a surtax.

Open-work hems are also treated as simple hems. (See (f) second paragraph.)

The articles mentioned are considered as presenting only occasional seams when the designs (motifs) of embroidery or lace separately manufactured or parts of such designs are united by needlework.

The presence of openwork or of open spaces in the interior of the design of the lace or embroidery does not involve the treatment of such articles as sewn goods. (Switzerland.)

(f) Handkerchiefs and shawls (châles, foulards, reils) of all kinds, wholly or partly of silk, not entering into the class of lace or embroidery, are subject to a surtax of 15 per cent. in addition to the duty on spun wares, when provided with a simple hem or with occasional seams. (Switzerland.)

The term "Articles with simple hems" is to include also articles with simple openwork hems, forming a half or whole "ladder" (chelle), that is to say, articles which have only one row of openings and of clusters of threads immediately adjoining the room of the edge, which in such cases is usually doubled over to a considerable width. The openings and the clusters of threads shall be uniform in shape and position, and shall neither be crossed by threads or interrupted by ornamental figures. It is immaterial whether the openwork is produced in the very process of hemming, by the perforator and needle of the openwork hemming machine, or whether it was previously effected by the omission or extraction of threads. In the case of simple "half-ladder" hems (Handbühnenhemm, demi-chelle) the clusters of threads are produced by the stitches fastening the hem, which gather up the threads of the tissue in groups along the seam. In the case of simple "ladder hems" (Handbühnenhemm, jours-chelles) of the usual form, there is, in addition, parallel to the hem seam and separated from it by the row of openings, a line of stitches which gather up the same groups of threads, giving rise to the formation of handles whose direction is identical with that of the threads of the tissue.

The star-shaped stitch formation produced when the hem turns a corner is not to be considered as an ornament insertion; any sewing around the edge of the openings in the tissue filled up by spinning, intended only to prevent fraying, is disregarded. On the other hand, openwork hems with zigzag stitch, as also those with perforations, ornamental or otherwise not answering to the description given above, are not treated as simple openwork hems. (Switzerland, Austria-Hungary.)

(g) Pocket handkerchiefs, bed and table linen, and handkerchiefs of cotton or of linen, hemp &c. yarn, with hems, which are formed by the mere fact of sewing without folding over the edge of the tissue, or are formed into a comparatively coarse and common strip of closely sewn tissue by the single or multiple folding over of the edge or by using without thereby presenting any picking up of any hem, or by using plain openwork hems, or any fact of needlework or other ornamentation, are neither on that account to be dutiable as sewn goods nor to be subject to any surtax. (Austria-Hungary.)

Instead of the duty on sewn goods and of the 15 per cent. surtax referred to at the beginning of this Note, the above-mentioned tissues are only subject to a surtax of 10 per cent. if they are provided with a hem with a single row of perforations running parallel with the edge of the tissue in the interior of the tissue and formed up exactly the same way as the simple openwork hem, but without connection with the hem by special stitches. (Austria-Hungary.)

(h) Textile manufactures, on which are embroidered on 7 letters, even interlaced or ornamented (monograms, ornamental letters &c.), or names, numbers, or similar marks, are not considered as embroideries. (Switzerland, Austria-Hungary.)

In the tariff treatment of pocket handkerchiefs, unimportant embroidered ornaments surrounding the letters, names, numbers, or similar marks, such as plain sprays, arabesques &c. are not regarded as involving the treatment of the articles as embroideries. In cases of doubt, an ornament is regarded as unimportant when the whole surface of the embroidery does not cover an area of more than 2 square centimeters. (Switzerland.)

Except as otherwise provided in the tariff, spun wares cut out or measured into lengths without any sewing, are treated for tariff purposes as piece goods imported by the yard. (Austria-Hungary.)

Spun wares with fringes &c. knotted on the stuff are not to be considered as sewn.

Spun wares with fringes &c. run through the edge of the tissue and knotted, are conventionally dutiable as spun wares without fringes &c., no account being taken of the nature of the fringes.

Hemmings and sewings, as well as borders of ribbon and ordinary accessories for wear, shall not affect the classification of knitted and netted tissues and knitted articles (bosquets).

11. If the clothing or wearing apparel, millinery, and other sewn articles of spun wares are combined with metallic threads (wire or steel) they shall be liable to a surtax of 15 per cent. (Conventionally 74 per cent.) in the tariff, manufactured otherwise than by sewing, will be subject to duty as sewn articles. Textiles, with or without needlework, combined with other materials, will be subject to the same treatment, so far as they are not specially mentioned in the tariff, and do not become subject to higher rates of duty by reason of such combination.

Stuffed beds, cushions, mattresses, bolsters &c. for beds, also pallies, covered with spun wares, pay the duty leviable on sewn articles of the covering material as regards one-third of their weight, the remaining two-thirds being allowed for the stuffing, and paying the duty leviable thereon for being exempted. Other upholstered or stuffed cushions without framework, covered with spun wares and weighing more than 2 kilos, are treated in the same way.

If glass, porcelain, or metal buttons, glass thread, whalebone, strips, and the like are woven or knitted into spun wares, the tariff treatment of the spun wares is not affected thereby. (Switzerland.)

13. Yarns and spun wares of cellulose and other similar materials (except artificial silk) shall be treated as the yarns or spun wares which they imitate.

14. Non-annulated (seasoned) horn-beetle bodies of all kinds for incense-burners, glass, spirit or paraffin lamps and for all other similar incense-burners, shall pay the internal revenue tax, in addition to customs duty.

Other manufactures of wood coming under this paragraph, except wooden mosaics
Note. —Wooden furniture is not necessarily to be treated as "fine wooden wares" under No. 631, because it undergoes a definite improvement in condition by means of the boring or stamping out of ordinary holes (even star-shaped or circular) on the seat or back, in a regular pattern, by the plain cutting out of separate pieces with the saw, by turners' work on the feet and similar parts, or by the introduction (by engraving or otherwise) of lines, neither gilt, silvered, nor bronzed, nor interlaced or otherwise forming patterns. The same applies to wardrobes and similar large cupboards, furnished with fine carving only in occasional places of small importance (e.g., small panel mouldings, rosettes, pilasters, brackets). Hammer slag and rolling-mill waste, grind- ings, waste from tin plate not more than 6 millimetres thick . . . . . Note to Section A.—(1) The term "iron" includes "steel" for purposes of the cus- toms tariff. (2) Flat wrought iron more than 25 centi- metres wide, for rolling mills, with pay duty as sheet iron. (3) Iron products will be considered as "worked," as distinguished from "rough," if they have undergone surface operations, or alteration of form to fit them for some special purpose, to improve their appearance, or to protect them against rust. To the "worked" class belong especially all wares filed, bored, turned, planed, ground or polished, heated, tempered, or annealed after manufacture, colored, gray, brown, or otherwise by heating with a covering of oil, polished in the rolling barrel or the scouring tub; also all wares painted, varnished, lacquered, enameled, oxidized, coated with other common metals or alloys thereof (except those specified in Note 4), and all wares riveted, screwed, or otherwise con- nected together. "Worked" wares also include those from which the traces of casting, forging, or rolling have been partly or wholly removed. Moreover, it makes no difference whether the roughness is removed immediately on manufacture, or by a special process, or whether any alteration of the form of the article is entailed thereby. Wares which have received a finished ap- pearance immediately on manufacture are to be considered as "worked." On the other hand, the cutting of screw threads on the end of tubes, on screws, and on nuts, preliminary preparation for testing for flaws, the removal of seams &amp;c. the smoothing of broken surfaces, making of rivet holes, and the boring of holes with or without a worm (so long as there are not special provisions for perforated and drilled articles), the furnishing of certain parts, or a rough coating of oil paint or tar, or of gra- phite priming, and, conventionally, the re- moval of scale by pickling in acid, and in the case of tubes, the enlarging or reducing of the ends, are not to be considered as "working." (4) Iron in bars, wire, sheets and tubes, and other iron wares, which have been me- chanically coated with copper, copper alloys, nickel, or aluminium, or which have been chemically nickel-plated, are subject to a surtax of 50 per cent. in so far as the general tariff contains no special rules regarding them. If special rates of duty apply to the above- named articles in a polished or generally "worked" condition, duties will be collected according to these special rates. (5) The combination of iron wares with other materials only affects their classifica- tion for duty (so far as not specially provided for in Section A), if it is provided in other tariff headings that wares, even if only partly consisting of some other material, yet have to pay duty as goods entirely manufactured of such material. (6) Statuette (including busts, reliefs, and figures of animals), if at least life size, will be admitted free of duty, so far as they are works of art. (Treaty with Austria-Hungary.)

Note to Nos. 873 and 880.—The definition of the term "sheet," ("blech"), as given in General Note 1 to Base Metals and Manufactures of Sections B to H, of the General Tariff, does not conventionally apply to copper foil, brass foil, or the foil of any other copper alloy than brass. In fact, sheets of copper or of copper alloy of less than 0.25 millimetre in thickness are not to be tariffed under Nos. 878 and 880 as copper foil, brass foil, or metal foil, unless they are in the form of tube, or have otherwise been hammered or rolled into thin paper-like leaves. The distinction between metal foil and genuine gold and silver leaf is not touched by the foregoing. (Treaty with Austria-Hungary.)

Note to Section G. Common metals and alloys of common metals, not otherwise mentioned in the tariff, intended for the manufacture of metal wares as well as wares of such metals and alloys, will be classed as copper and copper wares. (Conventionally by treaty with Austria-Hungary.)

§ 1. All merchandise imported into the Protectorate, by sea or exported therefrom, shall be liable to the import and export duties appearing in the Tariff (1), unless included in the exceptions hereinafter provided. Goods which, under a transit pass, are forwarded to or come from the interior of the country shall be subject, in addition to the conventional import or export duties, to the conventional transit duty.

§ 2. The rules to be applied with regard to the assessment of goods are those in vogue at the sea Customs-offices of China. The Customs control, when necessary, is exercised by Customs officials. Failing such a statement the highest special import duty is due.

If the factor of purity of these fluids exceeds 68, the excise duty is increased by fl. 0.35 for each unit above 68; fractions of a unit are left out of consideration.

f. Glucose from anyhym: solid granular sugar and castor sugar, as also rasped or massed down in any other way 100 kil. | 18.00 |

For quantities of more or less than 100 kilos, the excise shall be calculated in proportion thereto, with this understanding that decimals of a kilo, shall be regarded as whole kilos.

Under richness shall be understood:

a. with regard to raw sugar, the percentage indicated by polarization, diminished by twice the percentage of glucose found in the sugar and four times the percentage of ash remaining upon burning the sugar after removing the insoluble residues;

In virtue of article 1 of the law of December 31, 1908, exemption from excise duty can be granted for sugar not intended for human food (†).

Wine.

By the word "wine" are understood all fermented drinks, wholly or partly prepared from the juice or the extracts of grapes, raisins, dried currants, and other fresh or dried fruits. By the word "fruit" are also understood currants, gooseberries, bilberries, and raspberries. Fluid lees and sediments are also taken as wine, also unfermented juices or extracts of the fruits above mentioned, adapted to make, mix with, or dilute wine.

Fermented or unfermented drinks prepared in the country from fresh fruits, excepting grapes, are exempted from excise duty. The excise amounts to fl. 20.00 per hectolitre. Wine containing more than 22 litres of alcohol to the hectolitre, at the temperature of 15° C., shall, on importation, be considered as spirits and dutiable as such. At the time of importation and conveyance in transit, whether direct or after warehousing, said wine must, in accordance with Art. 120 of the General Law of Aug. 26, 1822, be designated in the declaration as spirits under penalty of being held to be declared under a false description.

Should the wine contain more than 21 but not more than 22 litres of alcohol to the hectolitre at the temperature aforesaid, there shall be levied on the quantity of alcohol exceeding 21 litres, in addition to excise due on the wine, the duty applicable to distilled products.

In virtue of article 7 of the law of July 22, 1890, exemption from excise duty is granted for wine used for manufacturing cognac, under the precautions against abuse, stipulated by the Royal Decree of December 5, 1901 (†).

Cattle food.

Cattle food hereinafter specified may be imported from abroad free of excise duty.

Molastella, consisting of about 66 parts of molasses, and Molaesult, consisting of about 25 parts of molasses, of which the pureness factor does not exceed 68, and of copra meal.

Molasses and other juices containing saccharose, imported for the manufacture of products distilled in the Netherlands, will be admitted free of excise, subject to compliance with certain conditions.

"Panisum," being a mixture of about 40 parts of molasses, of which the pureness factor does not exceed 68, and of potato and linseed-meal constituents.

VALUATION LAW OF APRIL 20, 1895, CONTAINING FURTHER PROVISIONS RELATIVE TO THE LEVYING OF AD VALOREM IMPORT DUTIES, AS MODIFIED BY THE LAW OF JULY 9, 1896.

§ 1.—Increased valuation.—Appel.

ART. 1. Whenever at the inspection of goods subject to an ad valorem duty the officials charged with that inspection consider the declared value of the whole consignment or of any separately declared portions of it too low, they shall, if desired in writing, give notice thereof to the importer or his assistant, to the person who offers the goods for inspection.

They may fix for three days a higher value, and shall at once notify to the importer by leaving for him a statement in writing at the office of the collector where the entry was made. That statement must be left not less than 21 and not more than 18 hours after the aforesaid notice. Sundays not included.

The inspector of import duties or his deputy, at the request in writing of the importer, may extend those periods with six times 24 hours, or shorten the first mentioned period.

So long as the statement has not been deposited, the importer may increase the declared value to an amount which is considered sufficient by the inspector or his deputy; the offer to increase the declared value must take place in writing and in two copies. One of those copies shall be returned to the importer when the decision has been marked thereon.

In case it appears to the officials, before the statement is deposited, that the declared value was not too low, the inspector or his deputy may authorize the goods being immediately placed at the disposal of the importer.

(†) In virtue of decision No. 81 of July 23, 1901, exemption from excise duty can be granted for molasses intended for feeding cattle.

(‡) By the Law of July 12, 1895, the present law is completed by the addition of Art. 74, whereby the Government reserves the right to grant exemption from excise duty for wine entering distilleries of the last class, in conformity with Art. 7 letter a of the law of June 3, 1862, for use in the manufacture of distilled drinks for export abroad.

Art. 2.—At the request of the importer the inspector or his deputy may fix the value of the merchandise at a lower amount than was assigned to the officials charged with the inspection.

Art. 3.—If the importer is dissatisfied with the valuation of the officials charged with the inspection or with that of the inspector or his deputy he may invoke the decision of the examining Committee.

The Committee may fix the value at a different amount from that decided on by the officials or by the inspector or his deputy.

Art. 4.—The chairman of the Committee and the importer may appeal from the decision of the examining Committee to the Council of Appeal.

In case the decision of the Committee about the value is annulled, the Council shall fix the value.

§ B.—CONSEQUENCES OF INCREASED VALUATION.

Art. 5.—In case the declared value is increased, in accordance with the fourth paragraph of Article 1, the importer shall pay, in addition to the import duty on the amount to which the declared value has been raised, the penalty of five times the duty calculated on the difference between the new amount and the value originally declared.

Art. 6.—The importer shall pay, in addition to the duty on the value fixed by the inspecting officials, the inspector or his deputy, the Council or the Committee, a penalty of ten times the duty calculated on the difference between that value and the declared value.

Art. 7.—If, in the case referred to in the fourth paragraph of Article 1, an increased declaration of value was offered to an amount which was not considered sufficient by the inspector or his deputy, and if notwithstanding this the importer shall only pay, in addition to the duty on the value thus fixed, a penalty of five times the duty calculated on the difference between that value and the value originally declared.

§ C.—SPECIFICATION OF GOODS AND CONSEQUENCES THEREOF.

Art. 8.—After the notice mentioned in the first paragraph of Article 1 has been given, the officials shall place the goods in the care of the collector at whose office the entry was made, and a specification thereof shall be drawn up before him or his deputy. The importer or his representative is allowed to be present when this specification is drawn up.

The inspector, or his deputy, whenever circumstances make it desirable, may direct that the specifications shall be drawn up by the importer. He may also direct that the specification is made. In case of refusal to comply with the specification shall be done at the cost and risk of the importer.

Art. 9.—If, on preparing the specification, it is found that the nature of the goods has been incorrectly declared, the provisions of the present law shall not apply, and Article 215 of the General Law of August 26, 1822, shall take effect.

If, before or after depositing the statement referred to in Article 1, a larger quantity of goods than mentioned in the entry is found, the Articles 215 and 216 of the aforesaid General Law shall not take effect, but—in addition to the penalty according to Article 6 or 7—there shall be payable on account of concealment a sum of twice the amount of duty, calculated on the difference between the actually fixed value of the quantity found, and the declared value.

If more or less is found after the officials have deposited the statement referred to in Article 1, a fresh valuation shall be made. This valuation shall be notified to the importer by a statement as referred to in Article 1. The period therein described shall however not apply to this case.

Art. 10.—The goods may, if desired, be given up at once to the importer, on his giving such security as the collector may approve, provided that:

- There is no dispute between the officials and the importer as to the quantity of the goods;
- In the opinion of the inspector or his deputy, the value can be established by means of patterns or samples which may be retained, or by descriptions or drawings;
- These patterns, samples, descriptions or drawings are marked by the officials and the importer.

The inspector or his deputy may also allow that instead of patterns or samples of all the goods, one or more marked articles are retained as specimens, provided that the officials and the importer have agreed in writing as to the relation between the value of the articles retained as specimens and that of the other.

If patterns, samples, or specimens are accepted on this footing or descriptions or drawings are agreed on, the examining Committee and the Council of Appeal may fix the value of the goods according to those patterns, samples, or drawings, with due observance of the relation referred to in the preceding paragraph.

The retention of patterns, samples, or specimens, or the agreement to descriptions or drawings may, with the approval of the inspector or his deputy, be substituted by the undersigned in writing of the importer to produce the goods on demand to the examining Committee, to the Council of Appeal, or to the members of one of those bodies, as also to the experts appointed by either of them.

Failure to produce on first demand shall entail the disallowance of the protest or of the appeal of the importer and, in case the chairman of the Committee appealed, the value fixed by the officials or by the inspector or his deputy according to Article 1 or Article 2, shall be maintained unless the Committee has fixed a higher amount, which in that case shall prevail. The same course will be followed if, in applying the preceding paragraph, the identity of the merchandise is not established to the satisfaction of the Committee or of the Council.

Art. 11.—By paying the import duty and the penalty the importer forfeits all claim to object to the value that has been fixed.

Art. 12.—As soon as the value has been irrevocably fixed, and the amount due under the present law has been paid, the goods which are in the care of the collector shall be at the disposal of the importer.

The goods are considered as sold to the administration on the footing of Article 117 of the aforesaid General Law, if the importer has failed to dispose of them within three months after he could do so.

§ D.—TIME LIMITS, NOTICE.

Art. 13.—The decision of the inspector or his deputy, referred to in Article 2, shall be applied for by filing a petition at the latest on the third working day after that on which the statement referred to in Article 1 was deposited.

Art. 14.—The decision of the Committee shall be applied for by filing a petition at the collector's office, at which the entry was made, at the latest on the eighth working day after that on which the statement mentioned in Article 1 was deposited, or on which, in the case of Article 2, the decision of the inspector or his deputy was sent to the importer.

If patterns, samples, or specimens of the goods were taken, or if descriptions or drawings were made in accordance with Article 10, then, should the importer desire it in his petition, the consideration of the matter shall be deferred till the termination of a period stated by him, not exceeding three months from the date of the petition.

Art. 15.—The appeal, mentioned in Article 4, shall be lodged by the chairman of the Committee at the latest on the third, and by the importer at the latest on the eighth working day from that on which the notice of the decision of the Committee was sent to the importer.

The lodging of the appeal is effected by a notice in writing to the chairman of the Council, and if it is lodged by the importer, also by a notice in writing at the office of the collector, at which the entry was made.

Art. 16.—All objections or petitions are rendered void by exceeding the time-limits or by acting in any way contrary to the provisions respecting the filing of the petition or of the notice of appeal.

No decision shall take effect so long as it can still be opposed.

All notices or communications prescribed in this Law shall be effected—unless any other provisions are made—by means of registered letters or against dated acknowledgments of receipt. The date of the acknowledgment or of the registration shall be considered as the date of the notice or communication.

§ E.—RELATIVE TO CONSTITUTION AND PROCEDURE OF THE EXAMINING COMMITTEES AND OF THE COUNCIL OF APPEAL.

§ F.—GENERAL PROVISIONS.

Art. 17.—In the examining Committee fix the value of the goods at a higher amount than that declared in the entry, the importer, if he has not appealed from this decision, shall pay to the State costs amounting to half the duty on the difference between the declared and the increased value, but the minimum payable shall be fifty cents.

If, on appeal of the importer, the Council fix the value of the goods at a higher amount than that declared in the entry, the aforesaid costs shall amount to the full duty on the difference between the declared and the increased value, but the minimum payable shall be five florins.

Art. 18.—In case the importer has not paid what is due under this Law within three months from the date on which the value has been fixed irrevocably, the State may recover from the security given, if no security has been given the amount due shall be recovered by the administration selling the goods, the net proceeds being accounted for to the State on account of the amount owing.

If the net amount realised by the sale exceeds the amount due, the excess shall belong to the State, unless the importer has claimed it within two years after the sale.

Art. 19.—When the inspectors liable to duty are found among the luggage of travellers, and the inspecting officials are not satisfied with the declared value, the importer may increase this value to an amount to be fixed by them.

If the importer does not avail himself of this privilege, then, contrary to Article 1, the officials shall after inspection at once decide as to the increased value. They shall hand to the importer a written note thereof, which for the purposes of this law shall take the place of the statement referred to in the aforesaid Article 1.

Art. 20.—The above provisions do not apply to goods the value whereof is declared in accordance with the price list published according to Article 123 of the aforesaid General Law.

These provisions are also not applicable to goods entered for transit or for warehousing. If, on the entry of such goods, there is a dispute between the inspecting officials and the importer as to the value, the inspector or his deputy shall decide.

Relinquishment of transit with a transit-pass can be allowed only after a fresh entry at a place of unloading, or at an office appointed for paying import duties, where the importer is, however, not bound to the value stated under the transit-pass. In this case the provision of the General Law as to this law shall apply just as if the goods on importation were entered for home use. The transit-pass shall not be cleared until after further inspection of the goods.

Art. 21.—The documents to be drawn up or issued in virtue of this law, are free of stamp duty and of the formality of registration.

Art. 22.—The two following paragraphs shall be appended to Article 120 of the aforesaid General Law after 67.

The current price of the goods shall be understood to be the sum which is considered chargeable on the day of the entry for delivery in this country by the first hand in the foreign country, less the import duty according to the tariff. As regards goods to which the above provision cannot be applied, including such goods as from their nature, destination or marks are of less value to others than to those for whom they are intended, the value shall be fixed at the price of purchase from the first hand at the place of origin, plus the cost of packing, transport, insurance and commission; whilst for separate portions of goods, not in themselves constituting articles of trade, the value shall be fixed in proportion to the price of the whole article to which they are considered to belong.

“The Minister of Finance is empowered to make regulations as to the form of the bill of entry after having obtained the opinion of the Council on the subject.”

The following paragraph of Article 128 of the same law is repealed:

The following shall be added to the first paragraph of Article 122 of the same law:

“When goods liable to ad valorem duties and entered for inspection are inspected, the importer shall unpack the goods on demand of the officials, and produce those which are separately mentioned in the entry together and apart from other goods.

In case of non-compliance with any of these obligations, the officials may see to their being carried out at the cost and the risk of the importer.”

The following shall be added to Article 215 of the same law: “The aforesaid amount of one-twelfth part shall be fixed to one-twentieth part for goods liable to ad valorem duties entered for importation.” Chapter 22 of the same law and Article 6 of the law of October 28, 1879, are repealed.

(3) This price list has been discontinued since January 1, 1904.

Art. 33.—The officials of the import duties and the members of the examining Committee and of the Council of Appeal shall not divulge the circumstances with which they become acquainted in the carrying out of his law, so long as their divulging them would be prejudicial to the parties concerned, unless such information is required for carrying out the law.

Art. 34.—If any person, in case of a dispute about the value of goods entered for importation, wilfully submits a false or falsified document with the purpose of influencing the valuation, he shall be punished by imprisonment for a term not exceeding one year.

Contraventions punishable under this Article are considered to be crimes.

Sp. of Potentilla. (a) When the alcoholic strength of the liquid is higher or lower, the quantity shall be reduced to the standard of 50% of alcohol. The instructions, instruments and tables for ascertaining and reducing the alcoholic strength shall be determined by the Governor-General.

(b) The reduction to this strength, however, of liquors and other similar distilled beverages, which are prepared or mixed with substances so that the strength cannot be ascertained merely by means of hydrometers and thermometers, shall always be conducted in relation to a strength of 75%, unless the officials suspect that the liquids declared as such beverages contain a higher alcoholic proportion than 75%. In such case, they are authorized to require that the actual strength be ascertained, and the reduction shall be made accordingly.

(c) Distilled products, except liquors proper, which have been prepared or mixed with any ingredients so that the degree of strength cannot be ascertained direct by means of hydrometers and thermometers, shall not be dutiable as liquors and other similar distilled beverages, when the actual strength thereof does not exceed by more than 5% their apparent strength, but according to their actual strength, provided the importer has correctly declared the actual strength in addition to the apparent strength.

(d) For each and all other liquids prepared with alcohol, creating beverages, as well as for wood spirit, and all liquids prepared from, or mixed with it, the reduction shall be made in the proportion of a strength of 100%.

(e) The Governor-General may, however, with the necessary precautions, grant exemption from duty: 1, for wood spirit, and 2, for distilled spirit: a, which in the Netherlands, in accordance with the provisions there in force as regards exemption from excise duty, have been mixed with wood spirit or any other ingredient indicated there for rendering them unfit for ordinary consumption; b, which in the Dutch Indies, in accordance with the instructions to be issued thereon and under inspection of officials, are rendered unfit for ordinary consumption by the addition of wood spirit or some other ingredient indicated for the purpose by the Governor-General; and, c, for the preparation of vinegar.

(f) The Governor-General may also, with the necessary precautions, direct that paint and varnish prepared by means of distilled products rendered unfit for ordinary use, be admitted to importation, subject to payment of the import duty leviable under the Tariff on "other paint."

(g) The import duty on sulphuric ether, chloroform, and other similar substances prepared from, or with, alcohol shall be regulated by the Governor-General, by Colonial Ordinance, according to the import duty on distilled products. (See Note II, hereafter.)

(h) When distilled beverages are imported through Customs houses other than those specially designated for that purpose by the Governor-General, they shall be dutiable as varnish or liquids assimilated to varnish.

(i) In case the import duties on distilled products should be increased as a consequence of the increase of the excise duty leviable in the Dutch Indies, the Governor-General shall establish regulations regarding the further payment of the amount of the increase of the import duty on distilled products which may be found to exist in a quantity exceeding the maximum fixed by him.

Notes.—1. Liquors shall include by similitude: absinth, syrups prepared with distilled products, and fruits in brandy or in distilled products.

Special provision relating to all the Tariffs set forth in foregoing Nos. 1, 11, and 12. Exemption from duty is granted in the case of gutta-percha extracted by some industrial process from the leaves of the gutta-percha trees, and also in favour of gutta-percha and rubber constituting a output of undertakings for the methodical plantation of vegetable products yielding gutta-percha and rubber, provided that, in both cases, exemption be warranted by production of a certificate issued by a tropican official in charge of the Administration.

(b) As to duty fixed in the Tariffs set forth in the foregoing paragraph 3 shall also be payable on transport by sea to localities situated in the Customs territory where no export duties on the exported article are levied.

Should the exportation take place to localities situated in the Customs territory where the outgoing article is liable to export duty according to equal or higher rates, the same shall be solely collected on re-exportation of the goods from the locality to which they are exported, according to the tariff applicable in such locality, provided that if the rate levied in such tariff should be lower than that chargeable in the place of export, the difference in excess shall be levied forthwith.

5. Unless otherwise provided, the modifications made in the Tariffs, and the provisions of the Indian Tariff Law shall apply to the regions and islands to which the Governor-General has declared or may declare such Tariffs, and provision to be applicable.

6. This Ordinance shall enter into force on the 1st January, 1911.

NOTES TO THE EXPORT TARIFFS.

1. Export duty shall be levied not only when the dutiable goods are exported from the Dutch Indies, but also when they are transported by sea within the limits of the same, provided that in the place of destination:

(a) No export duty whatsoever be levied, on behalf of the Government, on exported goods.

(b) An export duty lower than the rate payable in the place of exportation be levied on such goods, on behalf of the Government, save that in the case of letter b it will only be necessary to pay such portion of the duty as, in the place of exportation, is in excess of the rate applicable on re-exportation to the declared place of destination. In the latter case, the Collector will, however, have the power to require a guarantee to his satisfaction, for the payment of duty not required to be paid owing to the declared destination. The collector may further call for such guarantee on the exportation of goods on which the Government levy in the declared place of destination export duties equal or higher than those applicable in his district.

The guarantee referred to may consist of a cash deposit or of securities deemed admissible by the Director of Finance or of a bond. If, owing to the declared destination of the goods, the export duty is not to be paid in whole or in part the Collector shall fix in the pass issued by him to that effect, the term within which evidence of the importation into the declared place of destination is to be furnished to his satisfaction.

Failure to comply with this requisition will involve payment of the export duty which had not been levied owing to the declared destination, unless a guarantee of Finance is furnished.

If within the term herebefore mentioned evidence is furnished, to the satisfaction of the Collector, that the importation did not take place into the declared place of destination, but into some other locality situated in the Customs territory in which the exported goods are liable to export duties, duty shall only be charged—solely in respect of the corresponding amount—if in the place of importation, the exportation of goods is liable to export duty at a rate lower than that chargeable in the place of export after deducting the sum, if any, collected in that respect in such latter place.

The guarantee, if any, furnished shall be returned as soon as the interested party shall have performed his obligations.

Importations made for the private use of officers or their subordinates shall be excepted, even when such articles are shipped to their official address.

b Provisions, necessities and stores for consumption on board of vessels entering the port, upon the condition that such articles be entered in the manifest, conformably to Art. 4, and that the Customs have, on their visit, ascertained that they are really intended for this purpose and do not exceed the quantity fixed in Art. 3.

d Effects and baggage of travellers, for their personal use; new articles excepted.

e Personal effects of persons coming to establish themselves in the colony of Surinam. These shall be examined on entry and shall only be admitted if, when the examiner finds that they have been in use, that they are not new, are not contraband and are proportionate to the profession or social condition of the owner.

In order to obtain this permission of free entry a written request must be previously submitted to the Controller of Taxes at Paramaribo or to the Collector at Nickerie.

When, at the time of examination, new articles, provisions or other goods are found which have not been declared or for which exemption has been applied by declaring that they have been in use, such declaration shall be considered as a fraudulent act and punished as such:—
a Gold and silver coins; gold and silver, in bars, ingots or any other form so that such metals cannot be utilized for any other purpose without re-melting.

f Articles exported and re-imported within one year after having undergone repair of any kind, but not being declared or for which exemption has been applied by declaring that they have been in use, such declaration shall be considered as a fraudulent act and punished as such:—
a Gold and silver coins; gold and silver, in bars, ingots or any other form so that such metals cannot be utilized for any other purpose without re-melting.

g Articles exported and re-imported within one year after having undergone repair of any kind, but not being declared or for which exemption has been applied by declaring that they have been in use, such declaration shall be considered as a fraudulent act and punished as such:—
a Gold and silver coins; gold and silver, in bars, ingots or any other form so that such metals cannot be utilized for any other purpose without re-melting.

The officials above mentioned shall satisfy themselves as to whether the articles are furnished with identification marks or whether sufficient guaranty can be obtained in order to check the goods at the time of re-importation by determining the size, weight, marks and other particulars; in such case, they will insist the adoption of those means in granting the authorisation.

No exemption will be granted if the said officials are of opinion that the articles are not intended to undergo any kind of repair, but are forwarded abroad for some other purpose.

Prior to shipment the official shall state on the authorisation the exact particulars and note any identification marks which may have been affixed to the articles.

This document shall be handed to the person concerned to afterwards serve as a voucher in claiming the exemption from duty. The expenses incurred for affixing the identification marks shall be borne by the person concerned.

MONEY, WEIGHTS AND MEASURES.—The monetary unit of Italy is the lira = 100 centimes. For weights and measures this country has adopted the metrical system; the quintal equivalent in the tariff is the net weight of 100 kilograms.

PRELIMINARY DISPOSITIONS.

Art. 1.—Customs duties are to be collected whatever be the state of the goods. The Customs cannot grant a rebate of duties in whole or in part on account of damage, from whatever cause, but it shall be optional for the owner of damaged goods to cause the same to be destroyed at his expense under the control of the Customs.

Art. 2.—Should different parts of an article which, when put together, constitute an article specially mentioned in the tariff, be presented for clearance in one or more cases, even with separate declarations emanating from a single person, such detached parts, although imported separately, shall be liable to the duty on the article which they are destined to compose.

Art. 3.—In case of contestation between the Customs and the importers relative to the description of the goods, the provisions of the Law No. 5028 (3rd series) of November 13, 1887, must be complied with.

Art. 4.—Goods not mentioned in the tariff or in the tariff index ("Repertorio") shall be assimilated to the goods with which they show the closest analogy. The assimilation is determined by the Minister of Finance under a founded decree, with the advice of the Board of Customs experts. The decree must be published in the "Gazzetta ufficiale."

These goods shall be dealt with according to the stipulation concerning Customs contestations without taking the opinion of the Chamber of Commerce.

Art. 5.—Goods proceeding from countries in which Italian vessels and products are subject to a different tariff regime, may be burdened with an increase of from 5 per duty up to 30 per cent. of the duty inscribed in the General tariff.

In the case of goods duty-free under the tariff, the same may be burdened with an import duty up to 25 per cent. of their official market value.

These dispositions shall be issued by Royal decree describing the goods liable to the surtax and the extent to which such increase of duty shall be applied.

The decree in question must immediately be submitted to Parliament to be converted into law.

Art. 6.—In the event of modification of the duties inscribed in the tariff, there shall be levied:

a. On goods proceeding from foreign countries, from Customs warehouses, and from stores or from general warehouses, the duties leviable thereon prior to the modification, provided that the declaration of entry of the goods for consumption has been deposited with the Customs, and the goods have been presented to the latter before the entry into force of the new duties. Goods placed under the immediate or temporary surveillance of the Customs, as well as goods on board vessels moored in the port when the manifest thereof has been lodged with the Customs, shall be considered as goods presented at the Customs-house. The new rates, however, shall be applied when they are found to be more advantageous to the importer than the former rates, even if the goods have already been presented to the Customs and the declaration of entry deposited with the latter.

b. On goods destined to foreign countries, the duties in force at the time of issue of the export bulletin;

c. On seized or confiscated goods, the duties applicable thereto on the day of sale or withdrawal under bond or in execution of a judicial decision;

d. On abandoned goods, the duties in force on the day of sale;

e. On foreign goods proceeding from shipwrecks, the duties in force on the day of sale;

f. On goods in transit or transferred from one Customs-house to another, and for which the clearance certificate has not been produced, the duties in force on the day of expiration of the time stipulated in the clearance certificate;

g. On goods in transit and authorised to remain in the Kingdom, the duties in force on the day of presentation of the declaration for clearance;

h. On goods temporarily imported and not re-exported, the duties in force on the day of expiration of the time granted in the clearance certificate.

Art. 7.—Articles destined to Sovereigns, Chiefs of Foreign States, Princes of the blood of reigning families, coming to reside in the Kingdom, provided that reciprocity be granted by their Governments, shall be exempt from the payment of import and export duties.

Articles destined to the Chiefs of mission of the diplomatic corps accredited to Italy, provided, however, that their Governments grant reciprocity to Chiefs of Italian missions accredited to their country, are likewise admitted duty-free.

Art. 8.—Effects and furniture of first installation belonging to foreign Consuls, subject to the proviso contained in the preceding article, shall be exempt from import and export duties. This exemption shall not apply to articles of consumption, such as alcoholic produce, goods forming a monopoly, wines, liquours and tobacco.

Uniforms of foreign consuls, as well as flags, coats of arms, and stationery sent by foreign governments for official use, shall be exempt from the payment of duty, provided those governments reciprocate.

The Customs authorities may waive the requirement of the declaration of change of residence in the case of returning Italian workmen accompanied by their household goods bearing traces of use, and in keeping with the social position of the owners;

Certificates issued for the payment of underpaid supplementary Customs duties, certificates relating to the payment of fines and receipts for deposits of money shall be exempt from the stamp tax. This exemption shall not apply to receipts issued for warehouse charges due, nor to marks affixed after the final liquidation of Customs duties.

Certificates relative to the temporary importation or exportation of cattle conducted to pasturage or work and of cereals destined to be ground in a frontier zone, shall likewise be exempt from this duty, provided, however, that the contiguous country grants reciprocity.

Art. 20.—Goods under the temporary supervision of the Customs, as well as those in warehouses under their direct control shall be subject to a warehouse charge of 1 centesimo per day and per package, when stored at a Customs-house to which a warehouse is attached, and of 2 centesimi at other Customs-houses.

For the liquidation of this charge neither the first three days nor the days of entry and withdrawal shall, when relating to foreign goods, be reckoned.

For national or nationalised goods, the storage charges shall be collected for the entire time of storage in the Customs-house, save the days of entry and withdrawal.

Every package exceeding a quintal in weight shall be considered as two or more packages, by taking for a basis one package per quintal or fraction of a quintal. This rule likewise applies to goods in bulk.

Art. 21.—The approbation of the tariff of charges for handling goods in the Customs-houses where portage is comprised according to regulations approved by Royal decree of December 4, 1864, is reserved to Superintendents of Finance, with the advice of the Chambers of Commerce.

PROVISIONS RELATIVE TO TARE.

(Royal Decree No. 574, of September 10, 1895, approved by the Law No. 294 of July 7, 1902.)

Art. 1.—The import duties shall, save the exceptions stipulated in the tariff, be collected:

1. On gross weight, for goods subject to a duty not exceeding 20 lire per quintal.

2. On legal net weight:

a. For mineral, resin, and tar oils, subject to a duty exceeding 20 lire per quintal; (†)

b. For sugar and coffee;

c. For persian and wire-drawn materials, wound on wooden bobbins, and which are liable to a duty exceeding 20 lire per quintal;

d. For other goods subject to a duty of more than 20 and up to 10 lire per quintal.

3. On the real net weight, for goods not enumerated in the preceding paragraph 2, subject to a duty exceeding 40 lire per quintal.

The export duties shall be collected on gross weight.

Art. 2.—The gross weight is obtained by weighing the goods together with all receptacles and packages containing same.

The legal net weight, for the goods enumerated in paragraph 2 of the foregoing Art. 1, is obtained by deducting from every quintal gross weight the tare established in the tariff and named Scheda di legal tara. The effective net weight is the weight of the goods without receptacles and packages.

(†) See Note (2) to No. 116 of the tariff in so far as it relates to petroleum and other refined mineral oils suitable for lighting, and imported from countries entitled to the most-favoured-nation treatment.

REGULATIONS AS TO THE STATISTICAL TAX.

(Text approved by the Royal Decree of July 28, 1910, No. 571.)

On goods specified in the annexed table imported into the country (except for transit and for deposit in bond and subsequent re-importation) a statistical tax of 10 centimes for each unit as fixed in that table is leviable.

The statistical tax shall not be levied:

a. On goods entering the country in quantities not exceeding 20 kilograms

b. On goods which in virtue of the preliminary provisions of the Customs tariff or for the purpose of facilitating the traffic at the frontier or in the central zones, are within the required conditions to enjoy the exemption from duties.

The minimum amount of statistical tax to be collected on each consignment shall be 100 centimes.

Rules and conditions for the levying of the statistical tax shall be made by Ministerial decree.

RULES FOR THE APPLICATION OF THE STATISTICAL TAX.

(The Ministerial Decree of July 26, 1906, co-ordinated with the text of the legal regulations approved by the Royal Decree of July 28, 1910, No. 571.)

Art. 1.—For the application of the statistical tax established by the text of the legal regulations approved by Royal Decree of July 24, 1910, No. 577, the following rules must be observed:

Art. 2.—The statistical tax on the goods specified in the Schedule annexed must be levied at the time when the said goods, whether they arrive from abroad or are delivered from Customs depots or warehouses, go into home consumption, are imported temporarily or admitted to re-importation on discharge of temporary export bill.

Art. 3.—Independently of that which is established by the regulations contained in the said text, the following are exempt from the statistical tax:

a. Damaged goods which, at the importer's request, have been destroyed as provided in Art. 1 of the preliminary dispositions of the Tariff.

b. Salvage goods, or merchandise landed owing to force majeure if not put into consumption in the country;

c. Goods re-entering the country after conveyance on coasting vessels;

d. Goods merely transhipped in ports of the Kingdom, notwithstanding that, pending the arrival of the receiving vessel, they might temporarily be lying on the quays or located in proper premises until re-shipped;

e. Cattle temporarily imported or re-imported on discharge of temporary export bills;

f. Merchandise of every description which, in accordance with the Regulations in force, are delivered without any Customs form being issued.

Art. 4.—The statistical tax is to be charged on all goods capable of being assimilated to those described under any tariff number or paragraph fully appearing in the annexed Schedule.

Exception is made, however, in the case of axle grease consisting of rosin oil and lime, which is not liable to the statistical tax levied on cart and machine grease, other.

As regards the tariff numbers and paragraphs partly reproduced in the Schedule, only such goods as are specifically enumerated shall be charged with the statistical tax.

Art. 5.—In assessing the statistical tax, it will, in all cases, be necessary to consider according to what weight the Customs duties are imposed. If the goods are free of duty, the statistical tax shall be payable on the gross weight.

Should the same clearance bill affect different kinds of goods subject to the statistical tax, the same shall be assessed on the aggregate weight of all the goods, a discrimination being solely made between those goods on which the tax is payable at the rate of 10 centimes per quintal and others paying 10 centimes the ton.

In case the aggregate weight of all the goods liable to statistical tax and covered by a single clearance bill exceeds 20 kilograms, the statistical tax shall be leviable, even if each separate article of merchandise weighs less than that limit.

Art. 6.—The weight of duty-free goods entering in bulk or in heavy lots may be ascertained by sounding or by referring to the way-bills or charter parties.

Art. 7.—As regards transit consignments of goods liable to statistical tax, bond must be furnished for the amount thereof, notwithstanding that the goods in question may be free of Customs duty.

Art. 8.—The statistical tax shall be collected by the Customs on the same form as is used for the advance of the goods, and must be entered immediately before the total of the principal duties.

The amounts assessed and collected by way of statistical tax are to be entered in the counter-foil Registers from which the bills are detached in a special column provided for the purpose.

Art. 9.—The statistical tax may be paid in paper currency, whether the goods be entered for warehousing, temporary importation or re-importation or be declared for home consumption.

Art. 10.—The statistical tax is deemed Customs revenue, for the application of the stamp duty on the bills for the purposes of Art. 19, §§ 3 and 4, of the preliminary dispositions of the tariff.

Art. 11.—The monies collected by way of statistical tax shall be paid to account of the balance under the Chapter of assets relating to Customs and Maritime duties and be specially levied in the administrative and judicial accounts.

(2) Natural wines exceeding 12 degrees in strength shall, in addition to the duty proper on wines, pay the duty and surtax on the alcohol in excess of that limit at the rate of 1 litre of anhydrous alcohol per degree and per hectolitre. If the alcoholic strength exceeds 12 but not 15 degrees, the duties on the alcohol shall be levied in proportion on fractions of a tenth of a degree; fractions of less than a tenth of a degree are ignored; if the alcoholic strength exceeds 15 degrees, the same duties shall be levied, fractions of a degree not below a tenth being reckoned as a full degree.

On natural wines admitted at the conventional duty at the rate of 1 litre of anhydrous spirit per hectolitre, and for every degree of alcoholic strength beyond 15°, fractions not exceeding  $\frac{1}{10}$  being ignored, but those exceeding  $\frac{1}{10}$  being reckoned as a full degree.

The alcoholic strength of sweet wines, containing more than  $\frac{1}{10}$  of non-fermented sugar, in which the total quantity of sugar (represented by the sugar present, and the sugar corresponding to the alcohol contained in the wine) exceeds 20%, is calculated by adding to the alcohol contained in the wine the alcohol corresponding to the sugar present (sugar x 0.65).

(7) On beer, whether in casks, barrels or bottles, there is levied in addition to the import duty, a surtax of manufacture equal to the internal tax of manufacture, according to the July ascertainment of the alcohol and alcoholic strength of the beer. At the July ascertainment the surtax may be levied without analysis on the basis of 15 degrees.

The internal tax of manufacture is 1 lira 20 centesimi per degree and per hectolitre.

(1) On spirits beyond the duty, the surtax of manufacture must be paid equal to the internal tax of manufacture.

The surtax of manufacture on sweetened or flavoured spirits, including cognac, even when in bottles, can in no case be calculated on an alcoholic strength inferior to 70°. When the Customs have reason to believe that the alcoholic strength of the spirit exceeds 70°, they can have the same analysed and if the alcoholic strength exceeds 70°, the surtax is to be collected on the actual strength ascertained. The internal tax of the manufacture of spirits is fixed at 270 lire per hectolitre of anhydrous alcohol at a temperature 15.56° by centesimal thermometer.

(2) The importation of foreign alcohol of a strength less than 95° of the official centesimal alcoholometer is prohibited.

(3) This duty was raised from 30 to 50 by a decree of Sept. 27, 1910.

1. In casks and barrels .....

2. In bottles of more than half but not exceeding one litre .....

3. In bottles of one-half litre or less .....

The surtax is levied at the rate of 70° per hectolitre, without regard to the real alcoholic strength.

The origin of these Swiss products must be proved by proper certificate of origin.

(5) Essential oil exclusively destined for the manufacture of soap may be admitted at the rate of 4 lire per quintal after being denatured in the manner prescribed by the Minister of Finance and upon compliance with the rules and conditions which, besides denaturing, the Minister is empowered to lay down in order to prevent the oil adulterated at one reduced rate being used in any way or to any extent for purposes other than soap making.

(6) On seed oils of all kinds, whether pure or mixed in whatever proportion with olive or other oils, there is levied, in addition to the import duty, a surtax of manufacture equal to the internal tax of manufacture on seed oils. The internal tax of manufacture on seed oils is fixed at 15 lire per quintal.

(b) Under the treaty with Germany, gelatinous alumina is to be classed in No. 48.

(c) Carbonate of magnesia manufactured in the Valley of Lebro is admitted, in virtue of the treaty with Austria-Hungary, at the rate of 15 lire per quintal, up to an annual quantity of 220 quintals gross, and on condition that the origin of the product be proved by certificates issued by the competent authorities.

(d) The importation of salts of mineral and spring waters for health or curative purposes, containing more than 25% of chloride of sodium is subject to compliance with the formalities laid down by the Minister of Finance in reference to the control of the trade in salts and saline mixtures for health or curative purposes. Said salts containing more than 25% of sodium chloride will be liable, over and above the customs-duty, to the surtax at a rate equal to the tax affecting the internal production. According to Art. 4 of Law No. 329, of July 3, 1894, modified by Law No. 207, of May 17, 1896, the salts and saline mixtures extracted from mineral waters are dutiable at the same rate as salt for industrial purposes sold to the public (i.e. 12 lire per quintal) on the quantity of chloride of sodium which they contain.

(e) For salts containing not more than 25% of chloride of sodium the duty of 10 lire is fixed by the treaty with Germany.

(f) These duties are obviously incorrect. They would appear by inadvertence to be transposed, so that the duty should really be 10 lire under the general tariff and 5 lire under the conventional tariff.

The surtax has been fixed at 160 lire per quintal. The surtax of manufacture on alcohol shall be collected after deducting the weight of the immediate receptacles in the case of imports from countries entitled to the most favourable nation treatment, when the importer consents to abide by the ascertainment of such weight.

(d) This duty was raised from 100 to 115 by a decree of Sept. 27, 1910.

(e) Under the treaty with Austria-Hungary and Germany the weight, 8 lire, is applicable to soap, pure or mixed with paraffin.

(f) The basis of May 13, 1871, imposes a minimum taxing tax on soap of all kinds, whether solid, in paste or liquid. This tax, which, in the case of imported soap, is leviable in addition to the customs duty, is fixed at the following rates: toilet and medicinal soaps 40 lire, and soaps of all other kinds 320 lire per quintal.

(c) In virtue of the treaty with Germany, synthetic indigo cannot be liable to 10 or higher duties than are leviable on natural indigo.

(d) According to the treaty with Germany, colors extracted from tar by means of glacial acid, sulphur or sulphides are classified under No. 130 a and b. Under the treaty with Switzerland, tar dyes (aniline, naphthalene, roseneine, anthraquinone dyes; vital dyes) are included under No. 130 even when they contain substances (e.g., chloride of sodium, in a proportion not exceeding 5% acetic acid, dextrine, sulphate of sodium &c.) the addition of which is solely intended to reduce or fix their shade, to prevent their precipitation in the bath, or to give the dyes similar properties having the effect of increasing their utility. If in order to ascertain that the dyes do not contain more than 50% of chloride of sodium, an analysis should be necessary, the importers will be at liberty to at once remove the goods from the Customs, and to freely dispose of the same, upon making a deposit or furnishing bond for the amount of the monopoly price of the common salt, at the rate of 30 kilograms of salt for every 100 kilos. of dye. In case the analysis shows that the dye contains more than 50% of chloride of sodium, the monopoly price shall be charged on the quantity exceeding that limit.

(e) The duty of 10 lire is, in virtue of the treaty with Germany, also applicable to aniline bases. By "aniline bases" shall be understood the combinations of aniline with aluminas and oxides of tin, lead or iron (without admixture of mineral oil or alcohol, in dry or moist paste).

(g) This duty was raised from 35 to 45 by a decree of September 27, 1910.

b Bleached .....	Duty on unbleached yarns with an additional 20 %.	—	—

(a) By application of the treaties with Austria-Hungary and Germany, curtains, simply hemmed, are assimilated to bed and table linen. The Austro-Hungarian treaty also subjects linen or hemp handkerchiefs to the conventional duty of No. 160b.

(b) According to the treaty with Switzerland, handkerchiefs and other articles with open-worked hems of all kinds made by the Gégau or other sewing machines are not considered as embroidered. These articles pay the conventional duty on the tissue, increased by 20 %, the fact of the "open-work" not being regarded as embroidery nor taken into account in assessing duty.

(c) Corsets simply bordered with ribbons of linen, hemp or cotton, are not considered as trimmed. Corsets with simple stitches in fan-shape, even with silk threads serving to affix the whalebones, shall not be considered as embroidered.

(d) Under the treaty with Austria-Hungary, tarpaulins, made of stout tissues of linen, hemp or jute, rendered impervious by means of greases, oil, tar, metallic soap or chemical products, sewn and furnished with buckles, rings, cords &c., are admitted at the rate fixed for No. 153a increased by 10 %.

(a) According to the treaty with Switzerland, tissues in which more than 20 warp threads or more than 20 weft threads leave each other are considered as worked tissues.

(b) Small shawls (fichus) of cotton, and similar cotton articles, with a light dry-stamped impression on the borders, will not, in virtue of the treaty with Switzerland, be considered as figured. Under the treaty with Austria-Hungary, cotton tissues with rippled surface-dressing produced by the cylinder press machine, are classed, without regard to the rippling, according to the quality of the tissue.

(c) In virtue of the treaty with Switzerland, broadened tissues are those having designs formed by the introduction of a thread belonging neither to warp nor weft, and superimposed in some way upon the ground or base tissue at the time of manufacture. The design can, therefore, be removed by means of selectors without impairing the substance of the tissue, unlike figured or damasked tissues, included in Nos. 169 and 174, where the design cannot be removed without picking the tissue to pieces.

(d) Tissues presenting a creamy bluish cast, tint, owing to sizing, are, according to the treaty with Switzerland, dutiable as such and undyed.

(a) In virtue of the treaties with Austria-Hungary and Germany, shawls, scarfs and fichus of wool, woven or knitted, printed or not, trimmed with fringes of textile material mixed with silk in a proportion exceeding 12% will pay, if the fringes constitute the most highly rated textile material in the finished article, the duty established for the fringes, according to the material predominating in weight, with the addition of 1 lira per kilogram.

(b) Corsets simply bordered with ribbons of linen, hemp or cotton, are not considered as trimmed. Corsets with simple stitches in fan-shape, even with silk threads serving to affix the whale-bones, shall not be considered as embroidered.

The regime of woollen corsets shall not be applicable to canisoles, neckties and other like articles of wearing apparel of wool, knitted.

(c) According to the Swiss treaty, the dispositions of Art. 21 of the "Reglamento" to the General Tariff in force at the time of signing the treaty, are applicable to shaped hosiery, sewn, and to Swiss canisoles of crêpe de saut.

In conformity with the same treaty, handkerchiefs and other articles with open-worked hems of all kinds made by the Gervais or other sewing machines are not considered as embroidered. These articles pay the conventional duty on the tissue, increased by the conventional surtaxes for sewing.

(d) In virtue of the treaties with Austria-Hungary and Germany, crapes in the piece to be sold by the yard, are not subject to surtax for sewing, even if the ends are sewn in order to prevent the fraying of the ends.

(e) Under the treaty with Austria-Hungary, blankets may also be trimmed with a fustian stitch.

(f) See footnote (f) to category V.

(g) Under the treaty with Austria-Hungary, waste of raw-silk intended for spinning in the mills shall be free of export duty as a convenience for the frontier trade, provided the regulations prescribed for controlling entry thereof into the mills be complied with.

(h) According to the treaty with Switzerland, the duty of 2 lire per kilogram is leviable on the net weight.

(i) Under the treaty with Switzerland, the dry-stamping (soffering) is taken into consideration in the classification of silk tissues.

(c) The duty of 150 lire is "conventionalised" in respect of Japanese silk tissues, karakuri, like the like, unbleached or simply grasses (not bleached, dyed or printed), weighing not more than 40 grammes per square metre; plain handkerchiefs, fichus, shawls and other sewing articles made of habutai tissue are to pay the above-mentioned duty increased by 20%.

(d) See footnote (d) to No. 152.

(e) According to the treaty with Switzerland, the application of tulle or tissue, which are taken into account as embroidery in the classification of the articles included in No. 217, does not involve the needwork surtax.

(f) By virtue of the same treaty, chemical lace (broderies aeriennes) of silk are subject to the conventional treatment of this heading even if a ground tissue of any material (even tulle) is visible in parts of the interior of the design, or if the lace has the form of galloons or "motifs" with or not joined at the ends or applied by means of embroidery or sewing.

(a) According to the treaty with Switzerland, printed books may contain engravings, photographs, lithographs, &c., inserted into the text by way of illustration without their classification being altered on that account. Engravings, photographs, lithographs, &c., serving to illustrate printed books, are, however, subject to their own classification, when capable of being separated from such books, and when no inscriptions or indications whatever are on them in reference to the text, so that they could be used independently, or when they are presented separately from the books, either in the form of loose sheets or inserted together in loose or volumes. The same treaty provides that books of devotion and calendars in the form of books are subject to the conventional treatment of printed books, even if containing inseparable pictures for the purpose of ornamenting and not illustrating the text.

(b) By virtue of the treaty with Germany, printed books ornamented with simple lines or vignettes, in order to separate the chapters or headings, are not on that account subject to a higher duty.

(c) Under the treaty with Austria-Hungary and Germany, No. 255 may have ornaments of common metal, even gilt or silvered, without any addition being made to the duty on that account.

(d) By effect of the treaties with Austria-Hungary and Switzerland, the duty of 22 lire is applicable to unprinted books bound in pasteboard, even if the corners and backs are covered with cloth.

(e) According to the treaties with Austria-Hungary and Germany, lithographed music is considered as printed music.

(a) Under the treaty with Austria-Hungary, iron wire merely annealed is not dutiable as oxidized wire, but is included under No. 279b.

(b) The German treaty provides that, in case of doubt, the thickness of sheet iron is to be determined by ascertaining the real weight and surface of the sheet iron. The thickness shall be gathered from the weight and surface by taking as a basis a specific gravity of 7.8, i.e., a weight of 7.8 kilogrammes per square metre, of a sheet having 1 millimetre in thickness.

(c) Are considered as simply trimmed, sheets and plates of a square or rectangular shape. All plates and sheets of other shape, i.e., hexagonal, pentagonal, circular, triangular &c., are considered as cut.

(d) It must be understood that under the treaties with Austria-Hungary and Germany the duties on the iron and steel articles mentioned in No. 287 are also conventionalized for the present No.

(a) See Note (e) to No. 285.

(b) See Note (e) to No. 286.

(c) Under the treaty with Switzerland, steel springs for weaving looms are dutiable at the conventional rate of this heading, even when capable of being utilized for other purposes.

(d) It must be understood that under the treaties with Austria-Hungary and Germany, the duties on the iron or steel articles mentioned in No. 287 a 2 and b 2, are also conventionalized for the present No.

(e) The treaty with Austria-Hungary provides that iron sheets falling under Nos. 280a, nickelled, lacquered, painted, or with impressed designs, as also wares of such sheets, in so far as the "Repertorio" in force at the time of signing the treaty classifies them as "Manufactures, according to the material of which they are composed," are dutiable under No. 285a, at the rate of 19 or 21 lire per quintal. If they are combined with other materials, they are dutiable under No. 285b at the rate of 23 or 25 lire per quintal.

(f) As regards articles in combination with other materials (e.g., locks with screws, rings &c.), the provisions of Section 4 of the Preliminary Dispositions to the "Repertorio" are applicable. (See also General Note II, to Category XIII.)

(g) Under the treaty with Austria-Hungary, iron sheets falling under No. 280b, nickelled, lacquered, painted, or with impressed designs, as also wares of such sheets, are dutiable under No. 286a at the rate of 20 or 22 lire per quintal, and if they are combined with other materials they are dutiable under No. 286b at the rate of 24 or 26 lire per quintal.

(d) The treaties with Switzerland and Germany provide that machines are admitted at the conventional rates even when imported in an unfinished condition, and whether the parts arrive in one or in different shipments, or are knocked on or several waggon. This provision also applies to incomplete machines, i.e. those lacking some part necessary for their action, or some accessory part.
In plates and sheets.....	4 00	4 00		All the various partial consignments must be presented to the same Custom House for clearance within a period, not exceeding six months, to be fixed by the importer at the time of entry of the first lot, (According to the treaty with Germany this time limit is limited to two months.)
In manufactures:				At the time of introducing an unfinished machine or any component parts thereof, the importer shall produce, together with the declaration, the plans and drawings of the complete machine, as also a list of the main parts, according to the kind and the approximate weight of each, he must further state the total approximate weight of the accessory parts.
1. Gilt or silvered.....	100 00	58 00		If, after clearance of some component parts, the others are not presented to the Customs within the specified time, the parts which have already been imported will be liable to the rates of duty levied on component parts of machines, or if the tariff fails to provide special rates for the latter, they will be liable to duty according to component material.
2. Neither gilt nor silvered, with ornaments or varnish of any kind (b).....	50 00	12 00		Pending final clearance of all the parts of the consignment, the Customs shall be entitled to require a security for the highest rates of duty which might be payable eventually, and to fix an identification mark on the parts imported by lots. The Customs may also satisfy themselves, at the expense of the person paying duty, after the machine has been fitted together, that the various component parts making up the partial shipments actually belong to the machine in question.
3. Not specially mentioned.....	15 00	12 00		Spare or duplicate parts always pay the appropriate duties.
ee (c):				No distinction will be made with regard to the materials of which the machines are composed.
In a raw state.....	30 00	—		Machines, or detached parts thereof, may be polished, painted, varnished or otherwise worked, and will not, on account of the special work they have been subjected to, undergo any change with respect to classification.
ee (d):				(b) Under the treaty with Switzerland, machines of all kinds driven by dynamo-electric machines, not separable therefrom, pay the appropriate conventional duties separately from the dynamo-electric machine. It will be optional for the importer to enter according to Note (f) to No. 310 at 13 or 19 lire, as the case may be, machines separable from the dynamo, if he prefers not separating, at the time of importation, the driving from the driven part, provided the classification of the two separate parts does not involve the application of higher duties in the aggregate.
ee (e):				(c) This note appears in the treaties with Austria-Hungary and Switzerland. By virtue of the treaty with Switzerland, chambers of turbines with the pipe connecting the chamber to the inlet water conduct this pipe with or without throttle valve; the iron framework of the turbine; the mechanism of the sluice valve and gratings (in accordance with the drawing annexed to the treaty of 1892) will be considered as integral parts of turbines and will be subject to the same treatment. This concession is made subject to the proviso that the aforesaid parts of the turbine be imported simultaneously with the turbine itself, or that the terms of the General Note concerning machines of No. 310 be fully observed, see Note (a) above.
ee (f):				(d) According to the treaty with Switzerland, the conventional duty established for spinning machinery is to be applicable to all machinery included in No. 310 of the General Tariff, according to the Note to heading: "Spinning Machinery" in the "Reperterio" in force at the time of signing the treaty.
ee (g):				(e) Under the treaty with Switzerland, the conventional duty fixed for weaving machines is to be applied to all machines (except knitting looms), comprised under No. 310 h of the General Tariff, according to the Note to heading: "Weaving Machinery" in the "Reperterio" in force at the time of signing the treaty.
ee (h):				(f) To enjoy the benefit of these duties, the importer is required to prove by means of a certificate delivered by the factory that the motor does not form the preponderating weight of the whole machine.

Under the treaty with Switzerland, the conventional treatment of extends to lead type with shell ("coquille") of copper tinned.

In conformity with the German treaty, nickelled articles of zinc assed in No. 297 c 2.

See General Note II. to Category XII.

Under the treaty with Austria-Hungary, furniture fittings and cores (such as key-hole guards, hinges, butts, &c.) shall not be treated as furniture fittings mentioned in No. 303. Such articles shall be treated in part from metal plates, whether ornamented or not, variable according to the component material (see also General Note II. Category XIII.).

(a) According to the treaty with Switzerland, the conventional duty established for spinning machinery is to be applicable to all machinery included in No. 310 of the General Tariff, according to the Note to heading: "Spinning Machinery" in the "Reperterio" in force at the time of signing the treaty.

(b) Under the treaty with Switzerland, the conventional duty fixed for weaving machines is to be applied to all machines (except knitting looms), comprised under No. 310 h of the General Tariff, according to the Note to heading: "Weaving Machinery" in the "Reperterio" in force at the time of signing the treaty.

REGULATIONS & C. ADDITIONAL ARTICLES EXEMPT FROM DUTY, TARE ALLOWANCES, STORAGE, TONNAGE AND LIGHTHOUSE DUES, DRAWBACK AND REFUND OF IMPORT DUTIES:

§1.—The following duties and dues on goods and vessels shall be collected and paid into the Treasury:

(a) Import duties; (b) storage dues; (c) tonnage and lighthouse dues.

§2.—The import duties established in the minimum tariff shall be collected on the pleasure boats enumerated in No. 15, on foreign goods imported into the country for consumption, whether the importation be for account of the State or of private persons, as well as on all goods of national manufacture having enjoyed a drawback on exportation, unless the Department should grant exemption of all or part of the duties.

The maximum tariff shall be applicable to any foreign country not having concluded a Treaty of commerce and navigation with Norway; and wherein Norwegian goods and vessels are less favourably treated than the goods and vessels of any other country. The maximum rates shall likewise apply to goods specified in tariffs annexed to treaties concluded with foreign countries and which have ceased to be in force. But the King may if he deems fit, order that the foregoing dispositions are not to be applicable either in whole or in regard to certain imported goods pending the conclusion of a Treaty of commerce and navigation with the country. The King may decide under what conditions and for what goods special certificates of origin shall be required to secure the application of the tariff.

In addition to such goods as by special license or permission have been or hereafter may be imported free of duty, the following articles shall be exempt from import duty:

(a) Ship's inventories (except the tackle mentioned in Tariff No. 15), including cabin, galley and similar articles, provided that their quantity and quantity may be considered outside and that they remain for use on the vessels on which they were imported from foreign countries. The fact that such inventories have been re-exported from the country as transit goods and return in the same vessel in which they were used does not make them liable to duty on re-entry.

(b) Similar inventories which have come ashore less or from vessels wrecked on the Norwegian coasts; also such inventories which have belonged to Norwegian vessels wrecked or legally condemned as unworthy in foreign countries, after the requisite vouchers have been approved by the Customs Department.

(c) Ship's provisions and other ship's stores brought in ships from foreign countries and remaining on board, provided that they do not exceed what is considered necessary for the size of the vessel, its crew and passengers, and the time it remains in the port of arrival. If the goods and passengers it carries are destined to different parts in the country the consumption of the goods free of duty may continue until the vessel arrives at the final place of delivery of the goods and passengers brought from abroad as well as during its stay there. If the vessel thereupon clears for foreign countries, or proceeds to another place in the country without the residue of the provisions and other ship's stores may remain on board for use without payment of duty, provided that they do not exceed what the Customs officer deems justified by the length of the proposed journey and other circumstances. But if the vessel sails for another home port after loading goods in destination of the interior, duty must be paid on the residue, provided it cannot be considered trifling, unless the ultimate destination of the vessel is a port abroad. The same holds good when the crew is discharged, provided the residue be not under lock and seal of the Customs-house.

In regard to provisions on steamships plying between foreign and domestic ports, the rules here given are to be applied with such restrictions as the Customs Department may find necessary to prescribe for preventing possible abuse.

(d) Coffee, tea, sugar, butter of all kinds, meat and bacon, other fresh meat in hermetically closed receptacles, hard bread, plum, rice, sardines and rice flour, salicils, as well as oils for illuminating and lubricating purposes, withdrawn from the warehouses, may be delivered exempt from duty for use on board vessels proceeding to foreign countries or for the whale, walrus or seal fisheries in the South Sea or in the Arctic Sea, provided always that the Customs deem the quantity of such provisions justifiable and that the master affirms in writing that such provisions are for the exclusive use of the crew and passengers, that the said oil or oil is to be used on board, and that with his sanction no portion of said stores shall be smuggled into the country. At the time of shipment the goods are to be sealed by the Customs or to be otherwise subject to official control; the Customs Inspector may at the time of or subsequently to the Customs clearance of the vessel leave out used led a quantity of goods in proportion to the number of the crew and passengers, and other goods may, under like conditions, be delivered on board said vessels for the use of the crew, provided they be dealt with in the same manner as other unenumerated foreign goods, in accordance with § 13, letter c of the Customs Law, and subject to the master affirming in writing that the seals affixed will not be broken until the vessel has left the territorial waters of the country. However, spirits intended for consumption on board Norwegian vessels fishing in the Arctic Sea are not subject to delivery free of duty.

(e) Clothing and travelling effects belonging to passengers, in so far as the Customs officers may deem that their quality and quantity indicate that they are imported for personal use. When such effects are not brought by the passengers themselves they are only admitted free of duty when the Customs officers judge that they are imported for personal use and that they bear the marks of having been used.

Clothing and personal effects which have belonged to Norwegian who died abroad, provided that it be proved that said articles have been used.

(f) Implements, carriage and riding equipments, household utensils, furniture and similar articles, when they bear trace of having been used and are imported for the account and use of persons who have resided abroad for at least one year and who have then returned and used them. Other similar effects likewise bear the trace of having been used, left by testament to persons inhabiting the country.

Other articles having been used may also, with the authorisation of the Customs Administration, be imported free of duty or at a lower rate of duty than that established for goods in general.

(g) Samples, provided they do not appear to be intended for trade (see § 1).

(h) Packages, evidently of the ordinary kind, containing goods, on condition that it be not expressly stipulated, at the time of clearance, that they are included in the weight of the goods or dutiable separately, also packages returned to the country after having served for the exportation of goods. Damage shall likewise be considered as packages.

Note.—Herring barrels shall not be entitled to free entry, even when used for packing re-exported goods.

(i) Donations and gifts in kind intended for prisoners of war.

(j) The Customs Department may grant free entry to seal, tares of any kind, provided to be of artistic value.

§3.—Imports from Sweden into Norway are governed by the following special rules:

1. In the conveyance by land between Sweden and Norway to the Eastern District, and to the Eastern District further north (except playing cards, which are subject to stamp and import duties), and to brandy and spirits, including beverages prepared with alcohol, and wine,

2. Hay, straw, gramin, fertilizers, sand and packages in which goods are being exported from the country; donations and relief in kind goods are being sent to war prisoners, on importation of these articles.

3. Travelling requisites belonging to and imported by passengers, ship provisions and other articles for use on board the vessel during its proposed voyage, such as coal on steamships, and fishing tackle.

4. Undecked vessels used by Norwegian fishermen in fishing abroad, both on exportation and re-importation.

5. Goods imported on the same voyage by the same vessels which exported them.

The foregoing exemptions shall not apply to barrels and cases for packing herrings.

6. Ores and opatite, on exportation by vessel, shall be liable to a duty of kron. 0.25 per ton.

7. Foreign vessels and goods imported and exported on them shall be subject to either or higher dues than those imposed on Norwegian vessels and on goods imported or exported on them, unless the King should order the assessment of higher dues on goods or vessels of some foreign nation.

8. When foreign goods, which in accordance with special dispositions have paid no duty or a reduced duty, in certain Customs-houses, are carried over home ports, an import duty or the difference between the duty paid at the shipping port and in the port of arrival shall be collected.

If a product manufactured from foreign material at any place in Norway where imported, either exempt from duty or subject to a reduced duty, is carried to another home port where the material employed in its manufacture is subject to duty or to a higher rate of duty than has been already paid, the product shall be liable at the port of arrival to the import duty there collected on the material from which it has been manufactured, subject to deduction of the duty which may have been paid at the port of entry.

AD VALOREM DUTIES.

ART. 5. The ad valorem duties established in the import tariff are levied on the value of the goods at the place of origin or of manufacture, increased by the charges for freight, insurance, commission and all other expenses incurred up to their entry in the custom-house where cleared.

SEC. 1. The value of the imported goods must be attested by an invoice from the manufacturer or seller stating the real price of the goods in question. This invoice can, however, be substituted by a written declaration.

SEC. 2. The invoice or declaration must state, in addition to the value, the respective quantities of every kind of goods contained in the different packages presented for clearance.

SEC. 3. When customs officers have reason to believe that goods are undervalued they may protest. In such case the officer examining the goods will appraise their real value.

SEC. 4. The interested party must immediately declare whether he accepts this appraisement or not. Should he accept, the goods are cleared accordingly. In contrary cases the provisions of article 17 of the present preliminary instructions must be complied with.

ART. 4. If, from the examination of the goods, it be ascertained that the estimated value does not exceed by 10%, that declared by the importer, the duties shall be levied according to such value. In contrary cases the duties shall, as a penalty, be increased by 50%.

SPECIFIC DUTIES ON WEIGHT.

ART. 5. Specific duties when levied on the weight of goods shall be collected on the gross or net weight, according to the customs regulations embodied in these preliminary instructions.

Sole section. For goods on which the import duties do not exceed 5 reis per kilogram the duties stipulated in the tariff will likewise be levied on gross weight.

WEIGHT SERVING AS THE BASIS OF CLEARANCE.

ART. 6.—By gross weight is meant the total weight of the package, and by net weight the weight of the package after deducting all or part of the weight of the exterior and interior packages.

SEC. 1. Gross weight.—For goods dutiable on gross weight the weight is ascertained by weighing or by appraisement. The weight declared in the manifest, if it agrees with that indicated in the invoice or declaration, can, when the weight is clearly marked on the outside of the packages, and when the packages are of the same size, likewise be taken as a basis:—

(a) To calculate the gross weight by estimation, the total weight of the packages is estimated according to the weight of several.

(b) Receipts of goods dutiable on the gross weight and those of goods exempt from duty are considered as goods and subject to the respective duties of the tariff when they are of materials of a different nature and of greater value than those generally employed for packing such goods.

SEC. 2.—Net weight.—For goods dutiable on net weight the weight is established at the option of the administration, when no contrary provisions exist, by one of the following methods:—

1. By separating the goods from their exterior receptacles and from all or part of the interior packages—Real weight of goods.

2. By deducting from the gross weight the legal tare fixed in the table hereinafter inserted—Weight by legal tare.

3. By deducting the legal tare from the estimated gross weight—i.e. the legal tare from the gross weight of all the packages, calculated on the weight of several; or, according to the estimated net weight of all the goods, by taking as a basis the net weight of part of said goods—Estimated net weight.

The two preceding methods for establishing the net weight are only applicable in the first case when the packages are about the same size and contain similar goods; in the second, when the goods are of the same nature and quality.

SEC. 3. Packages. For goods dutiable on net weight the first interior packages are either exempt from duty; subject to the same duty as the goods they contain, or considered and taxed separately as manufactured articles:

1. They are exempt from duty when they are clearly indispensable for the packing of the goods.

(a) Bales and sacks, in whatever state, are excepted from the foregoing provision. These are subject to duty when made of tissues generally employed for this purpose, both when interior or exterior, at the rate of 50% ad valorem.

(b) For the application of this paragraph are not considered as first interior packages, except in cases mentioned in the present instructions and in the text of the tariff, the partial packing intended to separate goods contained in the same package. These packages are dutiable according to No. 2 of this paragraph.

2. Packages for which no contrary provisions are made in the tariff or in the present instructions are dutiable as the goods packed therein.

3. Are considered as manufactured articles, and consequently subject to the respective duties of the tariff, packages, interior and exterior, of different form or of greater value than those generally used for packing goods, such as cases, boxes of cardboard, ornamented, of bequer, of composition, and all other similar packages. Boxes of all kinds containing cigars are also subject to this special provision.

SEC. 4.—The net weight, which is the basis for the clearance of articles of precious metals and of artificial flowers made of whatever tissues, does not include the paper, cases, or any other object in which such articles are packed.

SEC. 5. Legal tare.—When the net weight is established by the legal tare, the following percentage will be deducted from the gross weight, according to the nature of the goods and packages:—

RECIPIENTS OF EARTHENWARE AND GLASS.

ART. 7.—For goods which are taxed on the volume, the recipients of earthenware or glass are considered as goods and are subject to the respective duties.

FACULTY GRANTED TO COMMERCE FOR THE ESTIMATION OF NET WEIGHT.

ART. 8.—The importer who, after deduction of the legal tare, does not accept the net weight, or the estimated net weight, has the faculty to clear the goods in the first instance according to the estimated net weight; in the second, after weighing. In all cases, however, if from the estimated weight, or after weighing a difference greater than 3 ½ % be ascertained in favour of the importer, he must pay for this operation double the established fees.

TARIFF DENOMINATIONS.

ART. 9.—For the classification of goods the special denomination under which they are classed in the tariff is always preferable to any other generic designation which may likewise be applied to them.

PROHIBITIONS AND RESTRICTIONS.

ART. 10.—It is prohibited:

- (a) To change the packages of goods, except under the following circumstances:—
  1. When part of the goods contained in a package are to be removed or re-exportation.
  2. When goods are liable to be damaged, split, or when, for transit or re-exportation, they are to be better packed.
- (b) To change the nature of the goods in any way: except articles of gold or silver, which can be reduced to ingots or pieces should the importers so desire.
- (c) To import:—
  1. Foreign goods with trade or manufacturers' marks in violation of the provisions of the laws and treaties in force.
  2. Cases and packages bearing the same marks, united and bound up as to form one package containing various goods, or even containing one kind of goods, when the said packages are not accompanied by a declaration stating the number and total weight of the cases or packages united.

  4. Plants proceeding from regions infested with phylloxera and erythra.

ART. 11.—Books, printed matter, lithographs, photographs, engravings, and manuscripts in any language, are cleared from the custom-house without the interposition of the censors, except in cases provided for in the Penal code.

DAMAGE TO MERCHANDISE.

ART. 12.—For customs purposes, damage is the depreciation which by accident goods suffer from the moment the sea risks commence to the time of their discharge from the vessel, or on account of packages falling into the water at the time of discharge.

ART. 13.—Damaged goods are entitled to a reduction of the duties levied on them in proportion to the difference of the value of the goods at the time of clearance and when in their proper state; to obtain this reduction it is necessary, however, that the depreciation exceeds 5 % of the value of the goods previous to the injury, and that the conditions stipulated in the following paragraphs have been complied with:—

1. If the damage occurred during the voyage, it is indispensable that it be proved by the ship's register, or by any other legal document drawn up by the captain, showing whether the damage has resulted from leakage, collision, stranding, fire, or other similar accidents.
2. If the damage occurred in the port of discharge or on the lighter, this circumstance must be proved by a document executed in the maritime office established for this purpose, either immediately after the discharge, or, at the latest, within the following twenty-four hours.

ART. 14.—The origin and importance of the damage will be inquired into by two experts, one of which, a customs employee, shall be appointed by the director, and the other by the merchant.

SEC. 1.—The selection of an expert by importers is limited to licensed brokers or, in their default, to merchants of recognized competence.

SEC. 2.—In case of disagreement, the two experts shall select a third arbitrator.

SEC. 3.—Should the first two experts not agree as to this selection, the third expert shall be named by the chief of the custom-house.

SEC. 4.—Should the director of customs suppose that the interests of the treasury have been injured by the arbitrators, he must appeal to the tribunal for technical litigations. The same faculty is also accorded to the proprietors of goods.

ART. 15.—Proprietors of damaged goods are authorized, before or after the valuation, to separate that portion of the goods not damaged, to clear the same for consumption, and to re-export or abandon the remainder.

SEC. 1.—In case of re-exportation the customs authorities shall inform the Portuguese consul at the port of destination, in order that he may notify the custom-house thereof.

SEC. 2.—In case of abandonment, if relating to alimentary or new medicinal products, the goods must be immediately destroyed, and a written statement drawn up, with the witnesses and formalities required in analogous cases; when relating to other goods, the formalities generally adopted in cases of abandonment shall be complied with.

SEC. 3.—Whenever the examiner detects that alimentary or medicinal products are damaged he shall request the sanitary authority to inspect the same, and he shall proceed in compliance with the instructions of the said authority and of the laws and regulations in force.

ART. 16.—No reduction of duties on account of damage is made:

1. For cereals, vegetables, meat, cod fish, cheese, fruits, sugar, and other alimentary substances, nor for medicinal and medicinal drugs;
2. For rough wood, beams, planks, joists, sleepers, crum metal, and other articles, the value of which cannot be diminished by an accident happening either during the voyage or on discharge;
3. For goods damaged through accidents other than those mentioned in article 12.

CONTENTIONS.

ART. 17.—Disagreements between merchants or their agents, and customs employees, or between the employees intervening at the time of clearance, relating to the classification of goods, average, tare, application of the tariff, and, generally, to everything concerning the examination of goods, the application of duty, or goods not enumerated in the tariff, shall be settled according to the following rules:

1. When disagreements arise between merchants, or their agents, and customs employees, the said merchants or their agents must, the day after the disagreement arose, at the latest, present their petition to the chief of the second division of customs or to his substitute.

When, on the contrary, the disagreement arose between the customs employees intervening at the time of clearance, they must, within the same time, present their written explanations and give their opinions to the same officer.

2. The petitions and information, the clearance forms, as well as the samples of goods, and all other facts relating thereto, are submitted to the council of examiners, which must meet once every week at least.

3. The council of examiners, meeting at a custom-house, is composed of examiners of any class, and is presided over by the director, or by the chief of the second division, who, however, is not entitled to vote.

4. When the disagreement or contestation has arisen in a secondary customs office, the documents and other facts relating to the case must be forwarded to the custom-house to which it is subordinate, with the opinion of the chief of the office, in order to be submitted to the council of examiners according to the established rules.

5. Minutes of the resolutions of the council of examiners must be preserved, containing the reasons for the vote of every employee, and, whatever be the issue of the deliberations of the council, the result must be communicated to the merchant or his agent, so that within three days he may, if he deem proper, take the necessary steps to protect his interests; documents annexed to the petitions must be drawn up on stamped paper.

6. Appeals shall be submitted to the board of verification, who will give its opinion on the case.

7. In case there should be a difference of opinion between the examiners and verifiers, or when the merchant protests, the respective directors may, should they deem it proper, order the clearance of the goods, on condition that the majority of the council of examiners and board of verifiers are of the same opinion.

8. Samples of goods for the procedure in question should be addressed directly to the technical reporter.

9. When the merchant or his agent, or the director of customs appeals to the tribunal for technical litigation, a copy of the minutes of the council of examiners, together with certified copies of the declaration, the clearance bill, the opinion of the verifiers, of the chief of the second division, and of the director, as well as samples of the goods and the claims of the interested party. In fact, everything necessary for deciding the case in appeal must be addressed directly, within eight days, to the technical reporter attached to the said tribunal.

10. Should it be impossible to forward samples, these can be substituted by a drawing or by a minute description of the nature, form and use of the articles in question. In such case the goods may not be withdrawn from the custom-house unless the reporter has deemed the drawing, description, etc., sufficient for the information of the judges. If it be necessary to chemically analyse the products occasioning the litigation the result shall be submitted to the tribunal.

11. If the interested party desires to withdraw from the custom-house the articles causing the contestation or difference of opinion before a superior decision has been given, he must deposit the maximum amount of the duties increased by one-third.

12. When the contestation is decided in favour of the merchant, the expenses for the trial and the freight charges for forwarding the samples shall not be collected. In cases of disagreement between the employees, the samples are returned at the expense of the treasury, and the costs for the trial shall not be collected.

GOODS NOT MENTIONED IN THE TARIFF.

13. When goods of any kind are presented for customs clearance and the merchant or examiner thinks that they are not included under one of the headings of the tariff, the rules relating to contestations shall be complied with.

14. Goods considered as omitted in the tariff may be withdrawn from the custom-house, provided sufficient bond be given, unless the administration dispenses the interested party from giving bond or any other guarantee.

15. Relation to the admission of claims. The director of customs may, with the unanimous opinion of the verifiers, reject any claim relating to questions of fact, such as requests affecting the comparison of goods with the legal patterns or samples on which the tribunal for technical litigation has already decided, contestations as to weight, tare, etc.

16. The interested party may always appeal from these decisions to the technical reporter by means of a petition, examined and transmitted by the director of customs, together with samples of the goods in question.

17. The technical reporter may admit or reject such claims. In the first case he will order the beginning of proceedings. Appeal to the tribunal for technical litigation may always be made by the owner of the goods causing the contestation.

The classification of the object is made according to this description.

SEC. 1. † The English system is adopted for numbering yarn.

To ascertain the number to which a cotton yarn corresponds, any number of metres of cotton yarn may be taken, and this number is to be multiplied by the factor 59.05. The product of the above multiplication is to be divided by the weight of the yarn. The quotient multiplied by the number of threads composing the yarn will then give the corresponding English number, to which 7 or 10 1/2 is to be added, according as the cotton yarn is of more than one thread, only spun, or spun and dyed.

* By "similar substances" is to be understood textile fibres capable of being twilled obtained in various vegetable.

DECREES OF MAY 27, 1911.

Spirits.—The importation into Angola, whether by land or sea, of alcohol, spirits, and similar beverages contained in casks or jars is prohibited. The importation of prepared spirits, cognac, gin, liqueurs and similar products in bottles is, however, authorised; but the Governor of the Province may at any time limit the importation, or suspend it temporarily, either in respect of all spirits or in respect of only such as are recognised as prepared and imported specially for the consumption of the natives.

Prepared spirits, cognac, gin, liqueurs, and the like are to pay import duty at the rate of 1,600 reis per litre; but in the districts of Loanda, Benguela and Mossamedes, these articles, if of Portuguese production, are to pay only 600 reis per litre.

Alcohol intended for pharmaceutical purposes and denatured alcohol for use in industries may be imported under special licence, and subject to an Administrative and Customs régimẽ identical with that which was enforced in the district of Lourenço Marques by Decree of the 10th October, 1902.

Wines.—Wines imported into Angola are to be dutiable at the following rates:—

The Governor of the Province will issue such customs and seal regulations as he may deem necessary to secure the good quality of imported wines, based on the fundamental principle of analysis at the port of importation.

Casks and other empty receptacles having served for the importation of wine may be exported from the Province to Portugal and introduced into Portugal free of duty.

Beer, &c.—Beer, cider and other similar fermented beverages are to pay import duty at the rate of 200 reis per litre if of foreign origin or re-exported from Portugal, and 100 reis per litre if of national origin.

Distilling apparatus.—The importation into Angola, without government license, of alembics and other distilling apparatus, and of their parts and accessories, is prohibited.

ART. 1.—Alcohol and plain spirits manufactured in the Provinces of Angola and Mozambique shall, on exportation to any national or foreign port, be entitled to drawback of the manufacturing tax levied thereon in said Provinces, under the Decrees of July 7 and 19, 1900.

ART. 2.—Alcohol and spirits intended for export shall first be scheduled in a declaration specifying the quantities of the goods and their alcoholic strength. On removal from the factory or distillery, they shall be accompanied by a memorandum indicating numbers on packages and kind, their respective marks, the quantities of the liquid they contain and alcoholic strength of the latter.

§ 1. It will be necessary to deliver to the Custom house of export a duplicate of the memorandum issued by the manufacturer or distillery to enable the Customs to check the scheduled spirits.

§ 2. The shipper shall deposit the amount of the manufacturing tax payable on the quantity of alcohol or spirits to be exported, or guarantee payment of the tax by furnishing bills of substantial firms at six months' date.

§ 3. The deposit or bills shall be returned on production of a certificate to the effect that the alcohol or spirits have entered the country of destination or that the standing import duties have been paid to the Portuguese Customs, save at Angola, Mozambique and Guinea, where alcohol and spirits presented under like conditions shall be liable to a duty corresponding to the manufacturing tax established by the Decrees of July 7 and 19, 1900.

The Government will make with the Mozambique and Nyassa Companies the necessary contracts for carrying out this provision within the limits of their concessions.

§ 4. On the expiration of six months, if the exporter has failed to produce the certificate mentioned in § 3, or to prove that the delay is due to an uncontrollable cause, the deposit shall be forfeited to the Treasury, or immediate steps will be taken to cash the bills.

ART. 3.—Alcohol and plain spirits of Colonial manufacture imported into the Province of St. Thomas and Prince's Islands shall pay an import duty equal to the tax chargeable on alcohol and plain spirits of national origin.

ART. 4.—The prohibition to import raw materials for use in the distillation of alcohol, enacted by the Decree of July 19, 1900, for Mozambique, and by Decree of April 25, 1895, for the other Custom-houses beyond the seas, shall likewise apply to the Colony of Angola, except that such prohibition does not include machines, apparatus, re-agents and essences employed in the manufacture of alcohol and spirits, which shall, however, pay the duties respectively applicable thereto under the Tariffs in force.

ART. 4.—Sugar manufactured in the Provinces of Angola and Mozambique and intended for consumption in the province of production shall only pay a tax of 20 reis per kilogramme; and, if exported to national or foreign ports, it shall be subject to a statistical tax of 1 reis per kilogramme.

ART. 5.—Import duty on sugar levied according to the Tariffs in force in the Provinces of Angola and Mozambique, dated April 10 and December 29, 1892, is raised to 80 reis per kilogramme. This rate is applicable to sugar intended for consumption in the said Provinces.

ART. 6.—Exemption from duty granted by No. 12 of Schedule A of the Angola Tariffs and by No. 14 of Schedule B of the Mozambique Tariffs, in the case of importation of machines, implements, apparatus and their accessories for use in the manufacture of sugar, is maintained until otherwise decreed.

ART. 7.—Exemption from duty granted by the Tariffs in force in the Angola and Mozambique Provinces (under Nos. 20 and 18 of respective Schedules) on importation of sacks of coarse packing or sack cloth, of linen or similar materials, of national origin intended for exportation of sugar, is also maintained until otherwise decreed.

EE of 12th MAY 1916 WHICH EMBODIES A TARIFF FOR THE RITORIES OF THE PROVINCE OF MOZAMBIQUE UNDER THE ECT ADMINISTRATION OF THE STATE.

General Dispositions.

Goods imported shall be subject to the payment of the duties (specific or ad valorem) set out in the Schedule, whatever be the conditions of importation, except in the cases specified in these preliminary dispositions.

The authorities of any kind, are required to pay the duties fixed in the Schedule, and other taxes leviable on account of the State, in the case of imported products, whether such products come from foreign ports, from Portugal and the adjacent Islands, or from Portuguese Provinces. When such products are imported for the exclusive use of the State, however, the municipal taxes shall not be levied thereon, the special percentage tax levied for the benefit of the Customs officials, and goods are subject to the duties in force at the time when they are cleared through the Customs, and not to the duties in force at the time when they were deposited in Customs warehouses.

Clearances shall be effected by means of declarations drawn up (uplicate), and signed by the importer or his legal representative. The ation must contain:—

- The name and nationality of the ship, and the port from which she sailed.
- Year and number of registration of ship.
- Name of the master.
- Origin of the goods.
- Marks, numbers, quantity, and gross weight of the packages.
- A specification of the goods contained in each package.
- The net weight of each kind of goods or the number of articles, according to the unit on which duty is levied.
- Value of the goods.

ad valorem duties established by the Tarif shall be levied on the of the goods at the place of origin or manufacture, increased by all freight, insurance, commission, unloading expenses, &c., up to the the goods are brought into the Customs office for clearance.
The value of the goods must be proved by the production of invoices sent by the manufacturer or seller thereof, indicating the actual price of the goods in question. A written declaration may, however, be presented in place of this invoice.

When the respective invoice does not specify the expenses of freight, insurance, &c., up to the place of unloading, the value shown in the invoice shall be increased by 25%.

ad valorem duties leviable on goods of foreign origin shall, at the Customs Houses of Lourenço Marques and Inhambane, be paid in gold, the sum payable is not less than 2 escudos 25 centavos, the value of gold (sterling) being taken as 42 escudos for the purpose of payment only. When the amount payable is less than 2 escudos 25 centavos, it be paid at the current rate of exchange. In the same way, the value of goods dutiable on a specific basis or free of import duty shall be declared at the current rate of exchange.

The Customs authorities regard the declared values as being too low, shall contest the declaration, and in such cases the Customs appraiser shall fix the value on which, in his opinion, duty should be paid.

When the amount of Customs duties and taxes payable exceeds 500
escudos, payment may be made by means of bills, subject to the conditions laid down in this Article. (One-third part is to be paid in coin, and the rest in bills payable in three and six months' bills—interest at one annum being charged; the bills being guaranteed by two commercial firms of recognised standing or by the deposit of securities equal to the amount of the bills.)

The gross weight is the total weight of the package; and the net weight is the weight of the package less the total weight of the external wrapping. The net weight of goods is established by means of examination or other of the following ways:—

- By separating the goods from their external wrappings (net weight—peso effectivo).
- By deducting from the gross weight the legal tare percentage specified in the Schedule in this Article (legal net weight—peso por tara legal).
- By subtracting the legal tare from the estimated gross weight, i.e., from the gross weight of all the packages calculated from the weight of some, or by estimating the total net weight of the goods, taking the net weight of a proportion of the goods as a basis for the calculation (estimated net weight—peso liquido por estimativa).

The two last-named methods of fixing the net weight shall only be used when the packages are approximately of the same size and of the same kind of goods, and the second when the whole of the packages are of the same kind and quality.

The interior wrappings used for packing separately the goods contained in the same package shall be regarded as part of the merchandise, the weight thereof shall therefore be included in the net weight, and in the case of tissues of any kind, of tea, of tobacco, and of leum.

Articles are presented as internal or external packing, which are not used as packing material or which are not indispensable for packing and which can be sold separately, such articles shall pay duty at the which would be applicable thereto if they had been imported separately.

The "estimated net weight" shall not be applied in the case of tissues, not in the case of unbleached cotton tissues, of which the net weight be obtained by using the legal tare allowance, and in which case some bales must be opened in order to verify the nature of the goods.

The following tare allowances shall be deducted from the gross weight of goods subject to duty by weight:—

Importers who are not willing to accept the "legal net weight," or to abide by the "estimated net weight" have the right, in the first case, to have duty assessed on the "real weight," and, in the second, to have the whole of the goods weighed.

For the Customs classification of goods, the specific heading of the Tarif under which they may fall is always to be applied, as against any general heading of the Tarif which may also apply thereto.

It is prohibited to change the packing of goods, except in certain specified cases where, for instance, part of the goods in a package are to be re-exported.

It is prohibited to transform or change the nature of goods in general free warehouses, in any way, except in the case of goods which are free of duty.

The importation of the following is prohibited:—

- Foreign goods having trade or manufacturers' marks in contravention of existing legislation.
- Cases of bales, tied or tied together, with the same mark, making one single package which contains different kinds of goods, or which, if containing only one kind of goods, is not accompanied by a declaration of the number and total weight of the separate cases or bales.
- Animals and animal products coming from regions afflicted by epizootic diseases.
- Plants coming from districts infected by phylloxera or other plant disease.
- Editions pirated abroad, of books with a Portuguese copyright.
- Saccharine (except in cases exempted by law from the prohibition), and alimentary substances containing saccharine.
- Geographical publications, prints, or any other articles concerning public morality and decency.
- Foreign literary or artistic works which are fraudulent reproductions of other works of which the property rights are guaranteed by international conventions.
- Goods brought by vessels which do not comply with the conditions laid down by the Paris Congress of the 16th April, 1859.
- Opium (unless legally imported).

Books, printed matter, lithographs, photographs, prints and manuscript in any language may be cleared through the Customs, without submission to censorship, except in cases provided for in the Penal Code.

As "average" shall, for Customs purposes, be considered the damage suffered by goods from the time maritime risks commenced for the ship in which imported, up to the time of unloading, or by the dropping of the packages in the water during unloading, and injury arising from the deterioration of the goods, in so far as it was not the fault of the consignee.

A reduction of duty is conceded in respect of averaged goods, proportioned to the difference between the value of the goods at the time of clearance and their value in good condition; but such reduction shall only be accorded where the average exceeds 5 per cent. of the value of the goods before damage.

Owners of averaged goods may separate the part of the goods which is in good condition and clear the same for consumption, and may re-export or abandon the remainder.

Reduction of duty by reason of average shall not be allowed in the case of:—

- Cereals, vegetables, meat, fish, cheese, fruits, sugar and other alimentary substances, medicaments or drugs used in medicine.
- Wood in the rough, beams, "tabuas," logs, sleepers, ironwork, metals, and other articles which are not susceptible to change of value by accident during shipment or unloading.
- Goods which have deteriorated.

Note. Duties on the undermentioned are payable in gold, at par (i.e., at the rate of 42 escudos to the pound sterling):—

Customs duties "of commercial" and "industrial" contributions on goods of foreign origin, except goods of re-export and transhipment duty; interest on outstanding Customs dues; stamp duty on clearance papers of foreign goods; tonnage, port and marine sanitary dues; storage charges; licences for carrying firearms, sale of gunpowder, cutting of timber, and manufacture of alcoholic drinks; trading licences (Schedule B), property tax; quit rent.

In view of the deterioration of the scudo, the effect of this provision, will be to increase the duties by 100 per cent.

MONETARY, WEIGHTS AND MEASURES. Same as Portugal.

MONEY, WEIGHTS & MEASURES.—The monetary unit of Roumania is the leu of 100 centimes or bank. For weights and measures this country has adopted the metrical system. Commercial language: French is mainly used.

The duties as fixed by the commercial treaties concluded with the United Kingdom, Austria-Hungary, Belgium, France and Italy, are indicated in the conventional Tariff column of duties by the letters "U, K," "A," "B," "F," and "I," respectively and also the notes relating thereto. The words printed in italics are those which were aided by the treaty between Roumania and Germany. The advantage of all concessions which Roumania may accord to other countries, as well as the concessions already made to those above mentioned, will be extended to the United Kingdom in virtue of the most-favoured-nation clause in the Anglo-Roumanian treaty of October 30, 1905.

Products of countries with which no commercial conventions can be concluded printed in italics are those which are levied differentially on Roumanian goods, shall be liable, on importation into Roumania, to a surtax of 50% on the duties fixed in the general tariff; duty free articles shall be subject to a duty of 30% ad valorem. Should the said countries apply duties amounting to prohibition, the Government, after duly taking into consideration the economic and manufacturing interests of the country, may in case the Legislative Bodies are not in session, and subject to subsequent ratification by them, increase as they think fit, up to prohibition, the duties affecting all or any part of the goods or products originating from, or nationalized in, those countries. When, for various reasons, said countries do not allow any product of Roumanian origin to cross their territory in transit, the transit of all products of such countries shall be prohibited in Roumania.

Note.—Goods which in the present tariff are followed by an asterisk * are dutiable on gross weight. For goods dutiable on legal net weight and also net weight, and also those liable to the 5% tax, together with the fire allowances and Law relating thereto, see end of Tariff.

For special rates applicable to Turkey see end of Tariff.

n.s.m., not specially mentioned.
Note.—By a recent Roumanian Decree-Law, the general Customs Law, the Customs Tariff Law, and the Law on the marking of the precious metals, now in force in Roumania, are extended so as to be applicable in Transylvania, the Bukovina, the Banat, and the other Territories united to Roumania.

IMPORT DUTIES (in force March 1, 1906).

Note.—From 15th May, 1913, imports of merchandise, except articles of luxury, were not to be subject to any formalities beyond those relating to Customs, &c. which were in force before the war. An additional ad valorem tax of 2 per cent. is, however, imposed on all goods arriving in the country.

Note.—A Roumanian Royal Decree, dated 6th June, 1919, and published in the "Monitor Oficial" of the 7th June, provided for the establishment of a tax of 20 per cent. ad valorem on all goods exported from Roumania. The decree provides that, for the purpose of payment of the tax, the value is to be fixed on the basis of the selling price and the usual market price at the time of exportation. All other export customs taxes established by previous laws are abolished by the decree.

According to information which has reached the Board of Trade through the Foreign Office, however, a further decree was published on the 9th August exempting all exports from payment of the 20 per cent. export tax established by the decree of the 6th of June.

LAW RELATING TO TARE ALLOWANCES ON GOODS DUTIABLE

BY WEIGHT.

(Monitorul oficial No. 231, of January 19/February 1, 1906.)

ART. 1.—The import duties affecting goods dutiable by weight shall be levied on the gross weight, the legal net weight or the real net weight of the goods.

ART. 2.—The gross weight is the result of weighing the contents together with the packing.

Double cases and wrappers, in which certain goods are packed, do not form part of the gross weight.

ART. 3.—The legal net weight is arrived at by deducting from the gross weight the tares specified in Schedule B annexed to the present Law.

ART. 4.—The real net weight is the weight of the merchandise ascertained with or without the outer or inner wrappers, as differentiated in Schedule C annexed to the present Law.

ART. 5.—When a package contains several kinds of goods classed under different numbers of the tariff, the goods dutiable on the legal or on the real net weight are to be weighed and taxed according to the provisions of Schedules B and C respectively. To the weight of goods dutiable on the gross weight there is added a part of the weight of the package in which they are contained proportional to the net weight of each kind of goods so dutiable on the gross weight. If there are several kinds of goods, all of which are dutiable on the gross weight, the weight of the package is divided proportionally, and added to the net weight of each kind of goods contained therein.

ART. 6.—Liquids dutiable by gross weight, imported in tank-wagons, shall be assessed on the real net weight, with 20 per cent. additional.

ART. 7.—Goods dutiable by gross or legal net weight, imported in bulk, shall be assessed together with the materials used for protecting them during the transport (boards, straws, excelsior, &c.); in case of several kinds of goods dutiable at different rates, the weight of the package is divided proportionally and added to the net weight of each kind of goods contained therein.

ART. 8.—Goods dutiable on the legal net weight, imported in receptacles or packages other than those specially provided for in Schedule B annexed to the present Law, shall be assessed on gross weight.

ART. 9.—If, by their nature, receptacles should constitute commercial articles liable to duty under the Customs tariff, they shall be assessed separately from the goods save as specially excepted in the present Law.

The following receptacles shall be considered as having a commercial value: Metal cases and cans of all kinds, trunks in general, painted or plated cases, drawers or iron cases, lockets of horse hair or peled osiers, cloth bags of better quality than those generally used, boxes and covers of all kinds; skins, cases and casks of oak, ash or beech; casks, barrels and tuns of wood of every description with iron hoops and, generally, all receptacles or packing which, by their nature might be of commercial value or be used after consumption of the contents.

Iron cases containing soda are excepted and shall be liable to the same duties as the soda.

ART. 10.—Should receptacles or wrappers, containing goods dutiable by gross weight, be liable to higher duties than the goods, they are to be assessed separately; their weight shall be ascertained approximately without removing the contents.

ART. 11.—Goods dutiable on the gross weight, imported in bulk, shall be weighed and subject to duty together with foreign packing or receptacles used for the convenience of unloading or removing the goods at the Customs.

ART. 12.—Goods dutiable on real net weight shall be weighed together with the receptacles containing same and be assessed at the same rates as the latter; receptacles dutiable at higher rates than the goods shall, however, pay duty separately.

The weight of receptacles shall be ascertained approximately without transferring the goods. From this rule are excepted hermetically closed receptacles which after being opened with the view to consuming the contents, become utterly unserviceable, e.g. airdrie or preserve boxes, tins containing essences or other liquids, boxes or bottles with medicines or other specifics which all weigh the same duty as the goods even though dutiable at a higher rate than the latter.

ART. 13.—In respect to goods dutiable by legal net weight, the tare is represented by the weight of the receptacle; if such receptacle is of no commercial value, it shall be deducted from the gross weight of the goods; otherwise, it shall be dutiable according to kind.

ART. 14.—In determining the tares, fractions of a kilogramme down to a hectogramme are to be taken into account. Fractions of a hectogramme are to be ignored in importer's favour if not exceeding 30 grammes, but reckoned as a hectogramme on account of the importer if exceeding 30 grammes.

ART. 15.—In case goods dutiable on the real or legal net weight are imported in single or double bags or bales of common jute stuffs, half the duties chargeable on the goods under the Customs tariff shall be levied on such outside wrappers.

ART. 16.—Reels and such like, also the cloth or paper covering stuffs or other goods shall be weighed and dutiable together with the respective goods, save as specially excepted in the annexed Schedules.

Ordinary cardboard boxes used as coverings for goods dutiable by real net weight, without boxes, are to be taxed separately; burlins or frames round which stuffs, velvets or lace are generally rolled shall be assessed separately from the goods.

ART. 17.—Articles dutiable on the gross weight, imported by parcels post, are to be weighed and taxed together with the wrapper; those dutiable by legal or real net weight shall be assessed on the real net weight as differentiated in annexed Schedules B and C.

ART. 18.—Cases, crates, casks, barrels, tubs, bales and sacks are entitled to local tare allowance.

ART. 19.—The conditions under which each kind of receptacle or covering mentioned in the foregoing article are to be admitted to allowance of the tares granted by the present law will be determined by the Customs Department with the advice of the Committee of Experts, and be published in the Monitorul oficial in the form of a Ministerial decision.

ART. 20.—False declarations as to the nature of receptacles or wrappers, in consequence of which profit should be derived from the allowance of a higher tare, shall be dealt with according to Art. 89, § 1 or 2 of the General Customs law.

ART. 21.—Disputes relating to tares, as regards the description of receptacles or wrappers shall be settled by the Committee of Experts connected with the Ministry of Finance; this will also be the case for disputes in reference to the kind or quality of the goods.

ART. 22.—It shall be lawful for the Government to amend, as occasion requires, any provision contained in the present law and annexes thereto.

The amendments shall be effected in virtue of a Royal Decree and are not to be operative until three months after the date of publication of the Decree in the Monitorul oficial.

ART. 23.—The present law shall commence to take effect at the same time as the General Customs Tariff.
